You couldn't let the past hold you back. You had to move forward. Do better, work harder, and striving for what you couldn't do, not what you could do. You did it for community, for us, and for yourself. You had to move forward. It was not easy being a Kennedy student. We had the most to prove. The year of two thousand and four was the beginning of a new start. Where the old was behind us and the future was what we made of it. We had to generate new changes, that made us stronger, and wiser. The 4 BY 4 was no longer new to us. It was just part of our student life. You could say we were united, but we were a 4 OF A KIND. From freshman to sophomores, juniors to seniors we were the ones that made it happen. 4 THE RECORD, all it took was participation. Whether it was in academic, clubs, sports, or just life, we made our mark. These were the best years of our lives, so what was left ...

STUDENT LIFE

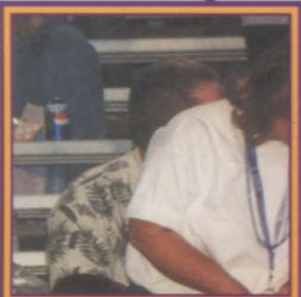

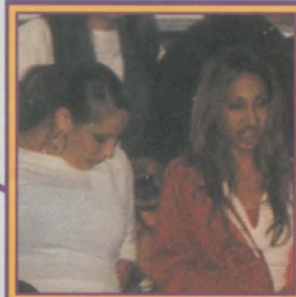

success individuality community experience

If the question were asked: What seems to both divide and unite Kennedy students, the answer would have to be experience. The seniors seem to have a lot of it. They've seen three Homecomings fly by, they've seen multi-cultural week change, they've endured both difficult and easy classes, and danced the night away one too many times. "My experience in high school and its activities was enjoyable," Paul Choe (04) stated, "I liked all the dance, assemblies, being involved in ASB and clubs, and getting into the 'school spirit'." But all these activities are new to the freshmen; Kennedy High School seems so exciting and none of the freshmen have a true "high school experience" to claim as their own. Yet student life carries on as the year brings more activities, and more opportunities to get involved with school. "The High school experience so far has helped me grow as a person. I've learned a lot about myself here. Hopefully these four years will be memorable ones" (Madina Omar 07). Despite the difference in their amount of time spent at Kennedy, all four classes are sharing in the high school experience and becoming a united student body.

Show Some Spirit

On October 6, 2003 spirit week kicked off. Spirit week was one week long and every day each class got to show how much spirit they had. Each class painted murals, created a dance, and performed a skit. Seniors, and Juniors started off the week with a lot of excitement and enthusiasm. Walking through the quad on the morning of the Junior and Senior days, there was evidence of all the hard work that was put into each class's day. "Spirit week is for everyone to get together and see who has more spirit," said Sharmaine Bell (05). The class of 2004 was called "The Summer Lovin' Seniors," based on a 50's, "Grease" theme. The class of 2005 were the "The Jumpin Jivin' Juniors," focused on a 40's swing theme. Lots of time and preparation were put into these projects to create spirit week. "The senior class put a lot of time into spirit week, working before school even started. I think our work this year was the best we've ever done because everything really stuck to the theme," said Maricela Casas (04). Everyone in the junior and senior classes showed their spirit.

Spirit week

How was spirit week?

"I think spirit week was great this year, other than the fact that we had no senior walk in, our skit, dance, murals, and centerpiece were off the hinges! I will truly miss spirit week."

Vincent Carretero (04)

"I was glad that this year I actually participated in my last spirit week and it turned out well."

Amber McGee (04)

"I thought Spirit Week was fun for not having a lot of support behind our class"

Megan Leigh (05)

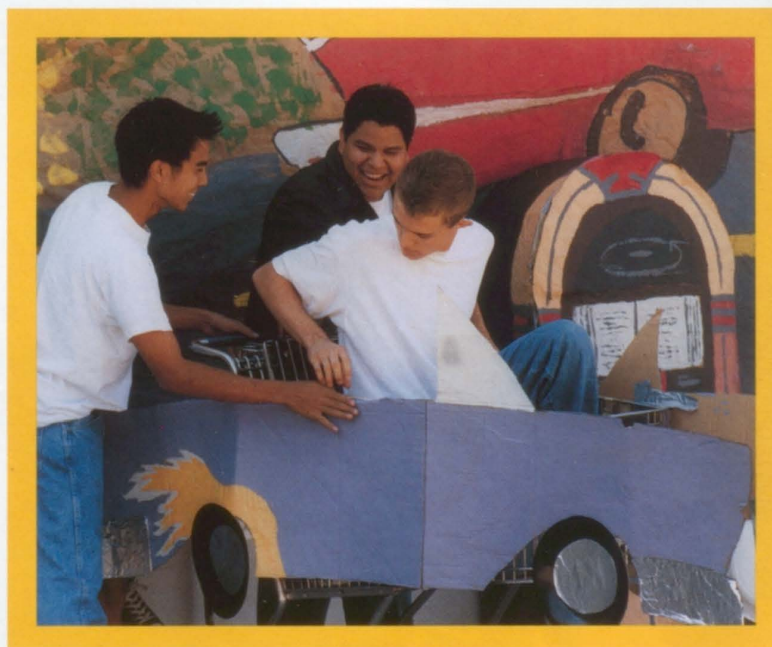

"Spirit week turned out pretty okay in the end and we tried our best!"

Jackie Chan (05)

Ready set go! Seniors Oscar Beteta (04), Kenneth Nebre (04), and Simon Wiscombe (04) take off for the senior skit.

It was the best spirit week I've seen by the class of 2004, Well done to everyone who helped because we did a great job!

Aaron Zaragoza (04)

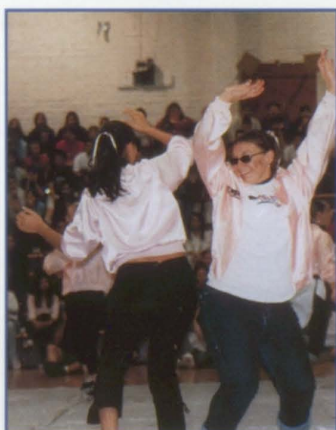

Racing to the the finish line Elizabeth Reisler (04), Justin Kwong (04) and Aaron Zaragoza (04) try hard to win the race as they finish part two of the senior skit for the homecoming rally.

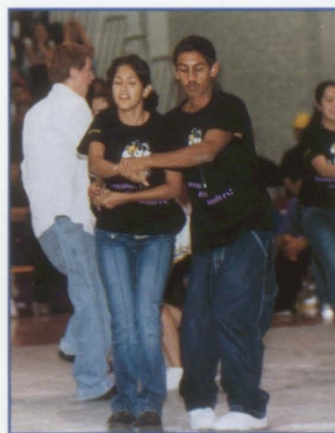

Getting the crowd started Keshia Hughes (04), Marina Grant (05), and Rachel Reyes(05) show off their murals and their spirit. "I was feeling like representing my class to the fullest," says Marina.

Gina Martinez (04) and Maricela Casas (04) strut their stuff as the pink ladies for the seniors' dance.

One and two kick left says Guy Freshwater (05) and Samantha Kiggins (05) as they both make sure to keep the beat jivin'!

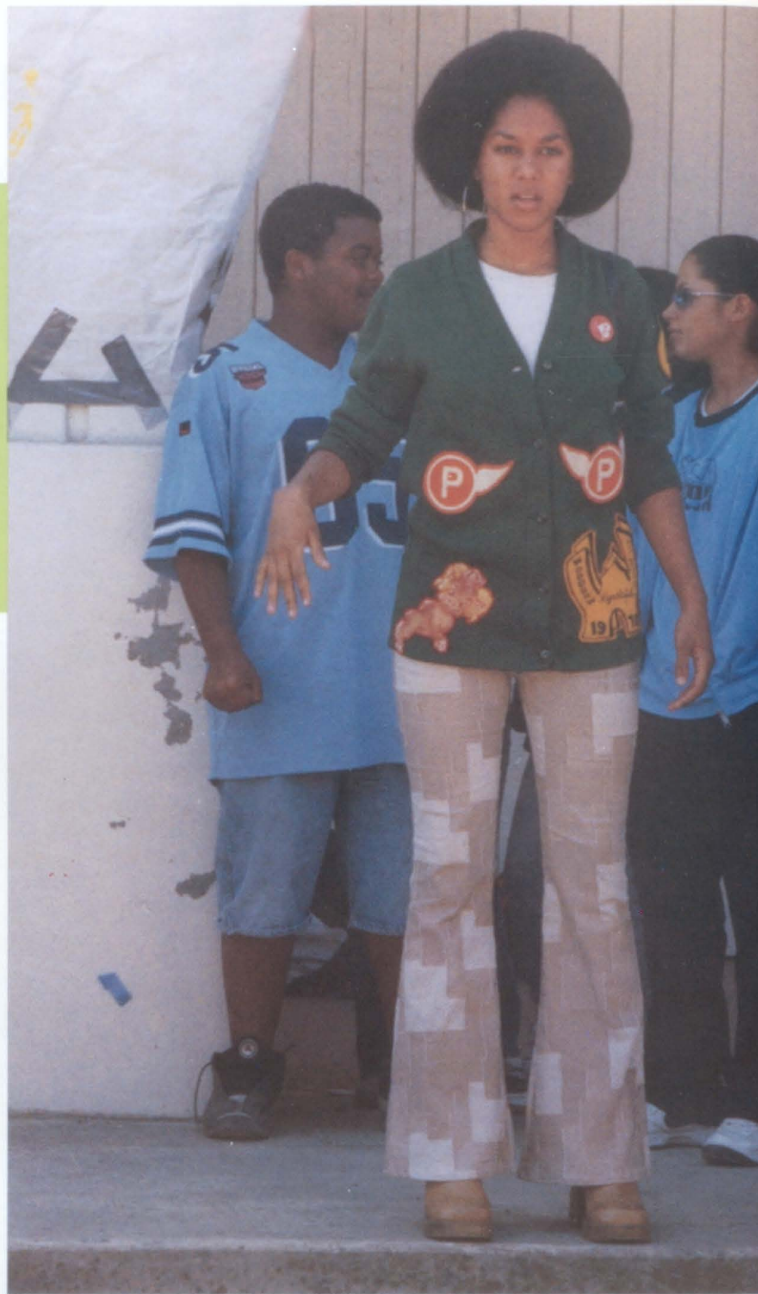

Elizabeth Garcia (04), shimmies down showing to the under-classmen that "Grease is the word" to the summer lovin' seniors.

"It was really fun participating in spirit week and now I'm really looking forward to next year" says, Jean Fernandes (06) as she dances with boyfriend Dexter Dsa (05).

Cortlyn Smith (07) looks as if she's not sure what decade she's in. Her outfit screams 1970's, but she's stuck in 2003!

"You wish you were a sophomore!" say Claude Quebec (06) and Samantha Uybito (06). They were two more voices in the group of students who are representing the sophomore class, as they cheer during lunch.

Freshman Chelsey Ryker and Laura Siedentopf really get jolted as they cheer for their class and stomp on the upper classmen. "Spirit week was cool because you got to see all the other classes perform," exclaimed Laura.

Evelyn Martinez (06), Jessica Sandoval (06), and Andrea Santillan (06) get energized as they scream out chants trying to beat the enthusiasm of the other classes.

Dario Slavazza(07) shows he knows his ABC's and 123's as he dances with all his energy to the Jackson 5.

Claiborne Sibley (06) and Claudia Delacruz (06) shows all their hard work paid off. They gave the crowd a "Thriller" of a dance performance to Michael Jackson's hit 80's song.

Dynamic Decades

I thought my class
did a great job,
we may not have won, but we tried hard and that's what it all comes down to in the end.

Bryce Canada (06)

This year's spirit week was phenomenal. The class of 2007 proved their spirit, sticking to a 1970's theme. "The 70's was a really easy decade to imitate because it is fun and crazy," said Scarlett Spangler (07). The sophomores showed how much they improved by adding a little bit of the 1980's to 2003 with a "Saved By the Bell" theme. Since they already had a year of experience, they set a good example for next year's sophomores. "Spirit week was very exciting," added Alexandria McDonald (06), and it was obvious that all the time spent after school had really paid off. Both class had spent countless hours preparing for the dance and skit to show exactly how much hard work and preparation went into spirit week. "Spirit week was cool, because I got to see how everyone got involved and showed school spirit," said Matthew Lean (07).

"I recorded the skit onto a tape at the overnighiter and then lip-synched it during the performance at lunch."

Milton Pask (06)

"We didn't have a dance at the rally because someone broke our cd at the overnighiter."

Andrea Trisler (07)

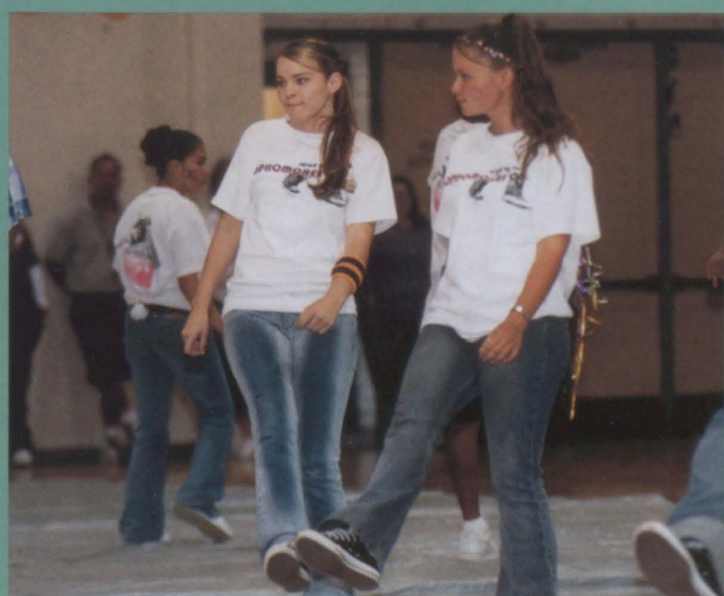

"We didn't know anything about our skit until 5 minutes before we had to go up to perform it."

Katelyn Rivera (06)

"We had a skit all planned out and everything and then when they went to go perform it they got the music all mixed up."

Katelyn Kimmel (07)

After hours of practice Samantha Demaria (06) and Tiffany Gaspie (06) prove to the crowd that they could get down 80's style.

Steven Lopes (04) and Mike Meneses (04) film the spirit rally from the stands while the seniors perform. "This is my last rally, so I want to remember it forever," says Steven.

Unity Day Rally

facts

How did you feel about the rally not having a senior walk-in?

"At first I thought the rally wasn't going to be any fun without the walk-in, but it turned out to be ok."

Valerie Dominguez (04)

"I think that not having the walk-in defeats the purpose of the rally. It is not fair that our class is being punished for last year's mistakes."

Eileen Duong (04)

"Not having the senior walk-in next year would be a big disappointment."

Travis Hawthorne (05)

"I was disappointed because the seniors didn't get to throw anything, even though they have gotten stuff thrown at them."

Elizabeth Rodriguez (06)

'04,'05, '06, '07 screamed the Titan crowd in support of their class at the opening of the Spirit Rally. With the senior walk-in missing in the rally line up, students were left not knowing what to expect. When the rally started, it didn't stop. We went back in time as each class explored a different era. The seniors rocked and rolled through the 1950's during their last spirit rally. "It was a bitter sweet experience. Although I had an amazing time being part of the rally, this was the last Spirit Week rally for me," said Fereshta Ashufta (04). The juniors jived as they took us to the 1940's. Jordyn Bishop (05) said, "Being in the spirit week dance and skit was fun, especially the swing dancing." The sophomores screamed their lungs out as they took us through the 80's and the freshman showed they had spirit even without a performance. "The rally was pretty cool. I hope to get more involved next year," replied Jeff Loya (07). Despite the fact that the classes had been in competition throughout the week, and each represented a different era, each class brought something unique and enjoyable to remember for a life time. It's great to see the whole school come together at the rally to have some fun and see how much hard work was put into the performances.

Assembling the pieces

The "pink ladies," Crissie Bucedí (04) and Jamie Stauffer (04) strut their stuff during the senior dance. "I'm glad everyone got through it, and we didn't mess up and start yelling at each other," said Bucedí.

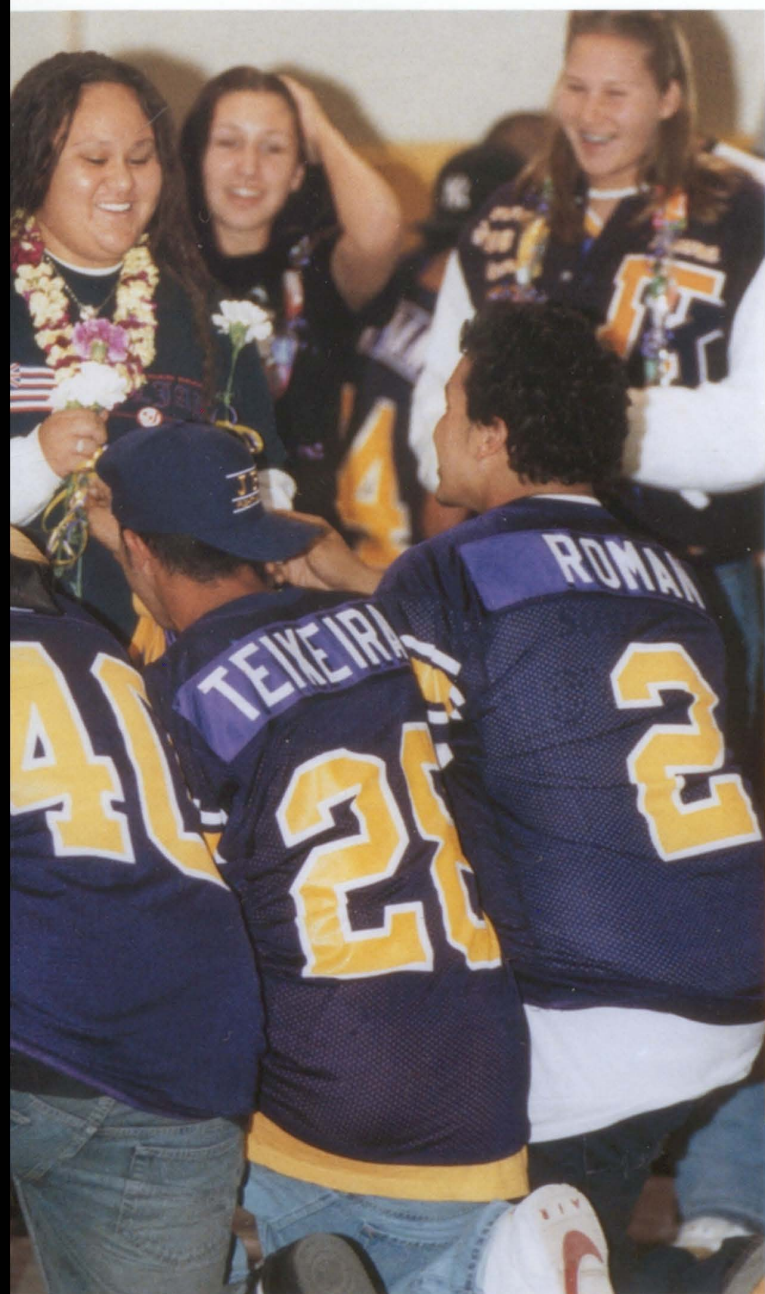

Jordyn Bishop(05) and Jackie Chan (05) swing to the jazz beat during the juniors' performance at the rally.

It's a "Thriller" when the sophomores take the dance floor, performing to the famous Micheal Jackson song at the rally.

Shake your grove thing! Mrs. Teri Sherer and Mrs. Kathy Putman do, as they entertains the students dancing to the "Y.M.C.A."

Signaling the begining of the Rally, Jeannie Duong (04), Lauren Gatlin (04), and Raihanna Estrada (04) belt out an awesome rendition of the National Anthom. Lauren says, "Singing with Raihanna and Jeannie was the highlight of my senior year. I loved it when the crowd went bananas when we sang together.

How down to the Queen. Kaulana Lee (05), Armondo Teixeira (06), and Ross Roman (04) kneel to present their carnations. Nahakulei Lee (07) was being recognized for her participation in volleyball.

Alejandra Haro (04) adjusts her crown as she shares her feelings on homecoming. "I felt honored that my classmates voted for me, and I really appreciate the fact that I made it as far as I did."

There she goes, making her entrance to the court. Fereshta Ashufta (04) waves as she nervously arrives at the stage. "Going up to the stage made me nervous, but once I got there I was really excited to see all my friends and family cheering for me."

It was an extra special night for Christina Cuison (04). "The best part of homecoming was getting crowned by my older sister."

It was really exciting to be a part of homecoming court. I was really nervous. My friends and family really showed their support, and that helped me relax a lot more," said Alla Bronshteyn (04).

"It feels nice to be the king, I feel really honored. But I still can't believe I actually won." Evyn Roman (04) was one of the five nominees for homecoming king. He was announced the winner the night of the dance.

Mercedes Thompson (04) waves to her many fans as she is crowned queen. The announcement was made during halftime at the homecoming game against American. As she shares her thoughts on winning, she states, "I was really shocked that I won, but I was thrilled."

It must be hard work serving the cotton candy all night. Matthew Stem (06) takes a break and eats some of his own. "I didn't eat it all, I swear!" exclaims Stem. "Handing out cotton candy to everyone made the game a lot more fun than I expected."

Did You Know?

He didn't even know he was nominated for king until someone told him.
Kenneth Nebre (04)

His mom helped him get ready for the dance, and it took him only a half an hour.
Simon Wiscombe (04)

He was hit by a baseball the day of homecoming, and had a fat lip for the rest of the night.
Aaron Zaragoza (04)

He barely made it to the dance. He forgot his tie and had to go all the way home to get it.
Oscar Beteta (04)

facts

I felt honored to be up there with the other four girls. It was really nice to be recognized for all of our accomplishments.

Mercedes Thompson (04)

Clowning Around with the Titans was the theme of the 2003 Homecoming game against American. The crowd was provided with entertainment as the clowns showed off their talent. Throughout the night we saw jugglers juggle fire and pump up the crowd by cheering with our Lady Titans. "The clowns were fun to watch, it made the night a lot more exciting," said Jamie Stauffer (04). During halftime, everyone stood waiting in anticipation to hear the announcement of the Queen. The five nominees were: Mercedes Thompson, Alejandra Haro, Fereshta Ashufta, Alla Bronshteyn, and Christina Cuison. The winner, Mercedes Thompson was happily crowned by last years' queen, Cara Cuison. "Mercedes worked hard for everything she's done. I'm glad she won, she deserves it," says Gina Martinez (04). Evyn Roman won the title of king the next night at the dance. "I was actually a little shocked that I won," says Evyn Roman. By the end of homecoming, nobody was disappointed and Homecoming was definately a night to be remembered.

School Spirit

"Overnighters are fun and it's sad that this is going to be my last one," Danielle Roney (04) said after the senior's overnighter the first of four to head off spirit week. Every student waited for the opportunity to stay out all night with friends. Nick Harlan (07) said, "This year's overnighter was good but hopefully next year's can be even better." Along with the fun of overnights came the responsibility of getting skits, and centerpieces ready for the following day. Claiborne Sibley (06) said, "It was hectic for everyone but in the end everything turned out ok." A last perk of the overnights was seeing friends come to school after a long night, still in their pajamas and wrapped in blankets. "You know the next day that sleep is the only thing on everyone's mind," said Benjamin Gonzalez (05). Most toughed it out and learned that school spirit can leave you sleepless.

Seniors started working on their murals and centerpieces at the end of their junior year!

Phuong Hoang (04)

"The overnighter took a lot of work and time, but it was fun to be involved in!"

Jessica Gong (07)

This year the juniors had more participation in their class than they have ever seen.

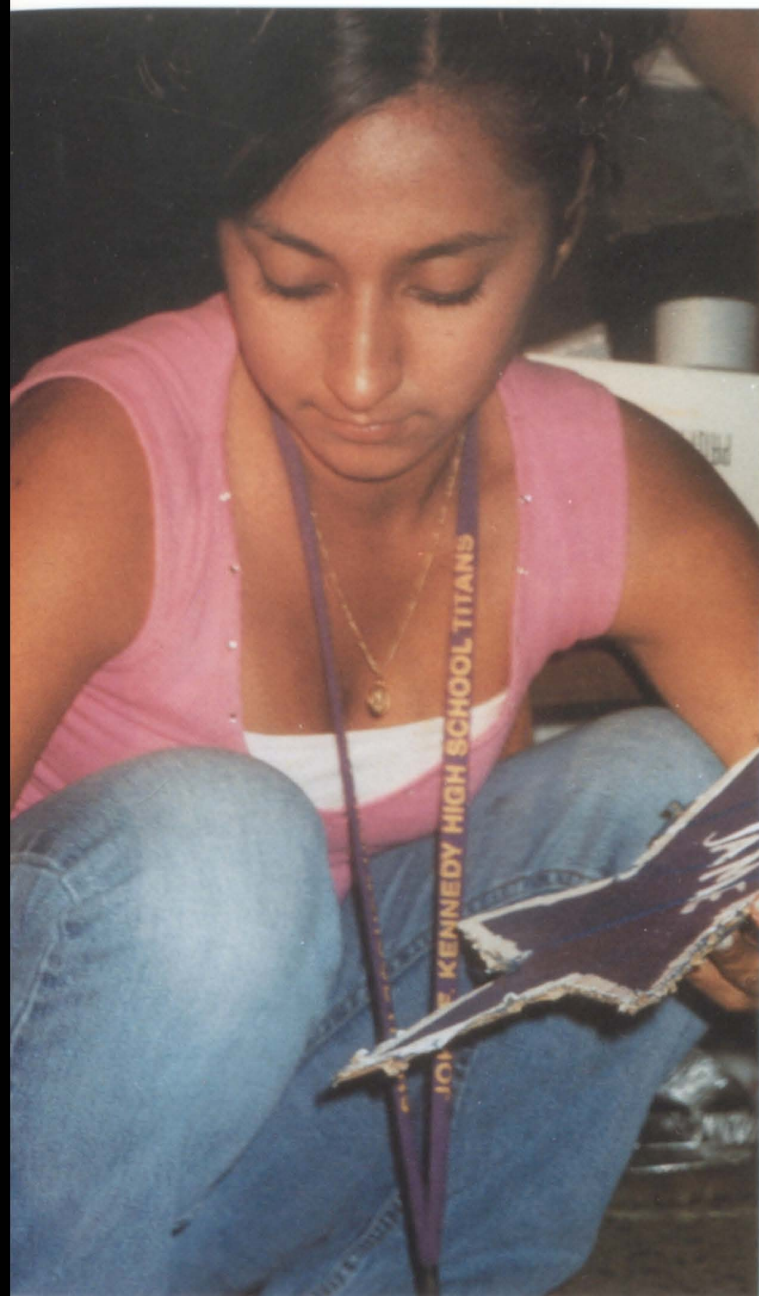

Santos Mercado (05)

"The overnighter was a lot of fun because not only did I work hard on the murals but I got to have fun at the same time."

Tiffany Caspie (06)

Myra Grant (05) and Ebony Bashir (05) undertake the task of making the juniors' dance floor for their centerpiece look superior. Myra and Ebony both agreed, "We got a lot of work done and it was fun too."

Adriana Vera (06) paints in a star for James Dean a popular fifties idol to capture "The summer lovin'" seniors' theme.

Stephine Bauhofer (06) is working hard on her first mural as a Kenndy student. "The overnighter was a great experience for me, since I am new to the school this year. I thought it was great getting to work with my friends and show my school spirit."

Robert Lira (06) paints the sophomore mural at their overnighter. "It was fun working with my fellow classmates but somewhat chaotic and trying," he commented.

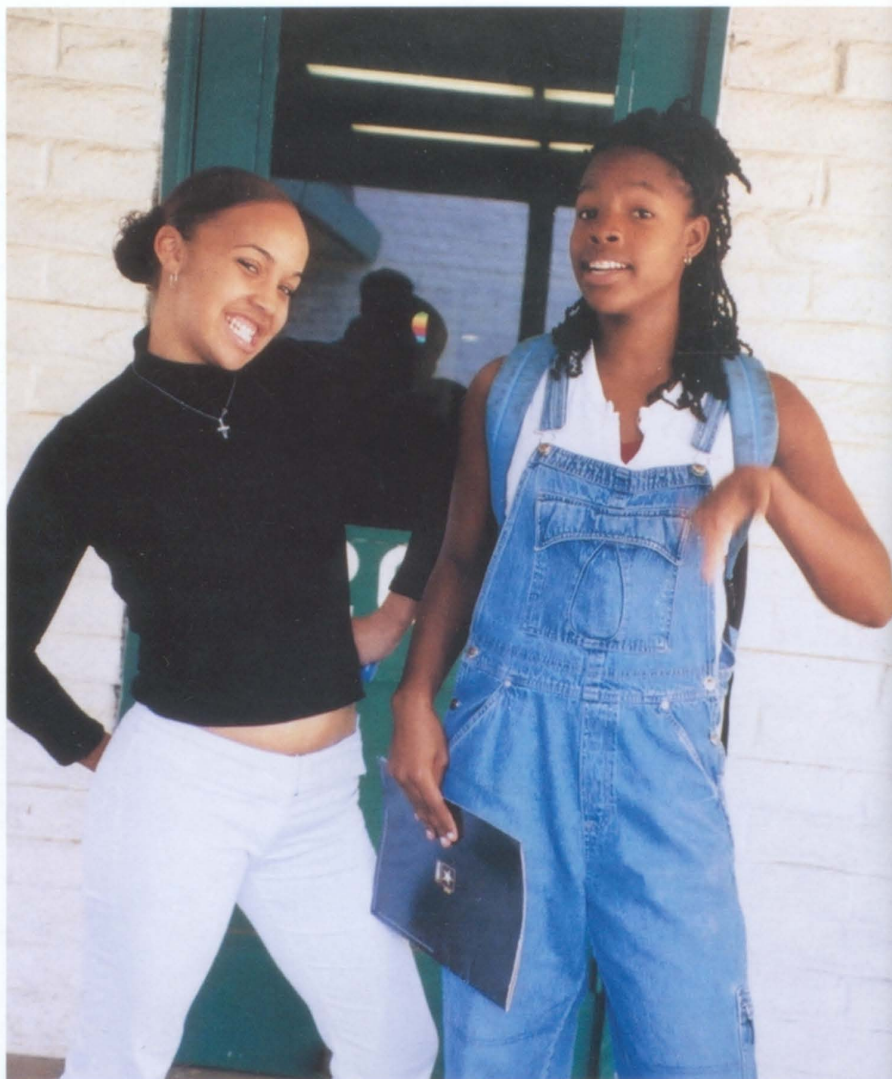

Jannet Shim (07) throws her arms up in a Y while singing "YMCA" after a long overnighter. "Spirit week was fun, but also stressful for the people involved. I believe that it was a full experience for all of us."

"We are the freshmen the mighty mighty freshmen," yell Katie Kimmel (07) and Annie Jen (07) in support of the class the day after their sleepless overnighter.

4-Ever Fashionable

Fashion had once again sprung in the 2003-2004 school year. New trends came out showing that people had style and class. From sweats to skirts and scarfs to shorts. From comfortable to classic and from trendy to sophisticated. People stayed styling all year. Quetzalma Quiroz (05) said, "I think people should care about what they wear, it reflects who you are as a person, and it shows your true character." Elizabeth Sime (05) said, "I wear whatever matches." To the rallies, games, or just to show school spirit, Kennedy students showed off their individual style throughout the year. Even though everyone was unique in their style, we were united as the mighty Kennedy Titans. Spread by: Jessica Cash

Amber Bown (05) and LaQuivia Evans (06) look so fashionable that the camera can't help snapping a picture of the two. "I feel people are respected by the way they dress," said Bown. Evans said, "What I wear expresses my personality."

When waking up in the morning Chase Coleman (05) goes through a variety of hairstyles before picking the style of the day. "It takes me about 20 minutes to do my hair. There's nothing really to it," stated Coleman.

"My style is really not very complicated, I'll usually dress comfortably. It's about wearing what I like, and being comfortable with myself. I don't care what other people think of my style," said Brian Latrielle (04).

"I have a very hip hop style," said Joshua Lewis (05). "Most people judge you by how you dress, since that's the first thing they see," said Mary Mwaura (04). "I dress the way I do because it defines who I am," said Edaline Sarmiento (05).

Paulina Nunez (04), Sara Escatel (06), Alicia Delacruz (06), and Tiffany Balbuena (06) share a laugh over who dresses better. "I dress the way I do because I like to look different than everyone else. It makes me

Despite cold, rainy, and windy days Sandeep Sunny (05) keeps styling all year. "Always wear what looks best, no matter what the weather is. It's always Sean John! Money isn't a thing."

"I dress the way I do because it's comfortable for me. I think it's stylish! Cheap and simple, that's the way to go," said Alexis Lindsey (05).

"I think everyone should dress the way they feel. I like to look different. Pink is so cool!" said Guy Freshwater (05).

Lupe Martinez (06) sets one of the new trends at JFK this year. "I dress the way I feel or whatever I pull out of the closet first."

"People should be allowed to wear whatever color they want," said Jared Milnes (04). "I think people should dress like they're comfortable, but also look nice while doing it," said Lucas Kain (05).

"It takes me an hour to get ready, because I like to be perfect," said Jevoni Dunlap (06). "I dress the way I do because it's comfortable and I'm not at school to impress anyone. I wear pretty much whatever is in my closet," said Joshua Allen (05).

"Everything is different," commented

Rosemarie Porth (05). Rosemarie, who speaks German and English, arrived at Kennedy at the end of September.

Rosemarie couldn't believe how different school was compared to Germany, "Here the teachers are nicer. In Germany they are very strict and there is much more diversity here.

It's good." Coming to a country where the dominant language is English was no problem for Rosemarie. "In Germany I was taught English at school for seven years," stated Rosemarie. "Sometimes I forget German words when I'm speaking in German and it can be confusing." She added, "It can be hard distinguishing between the languages."

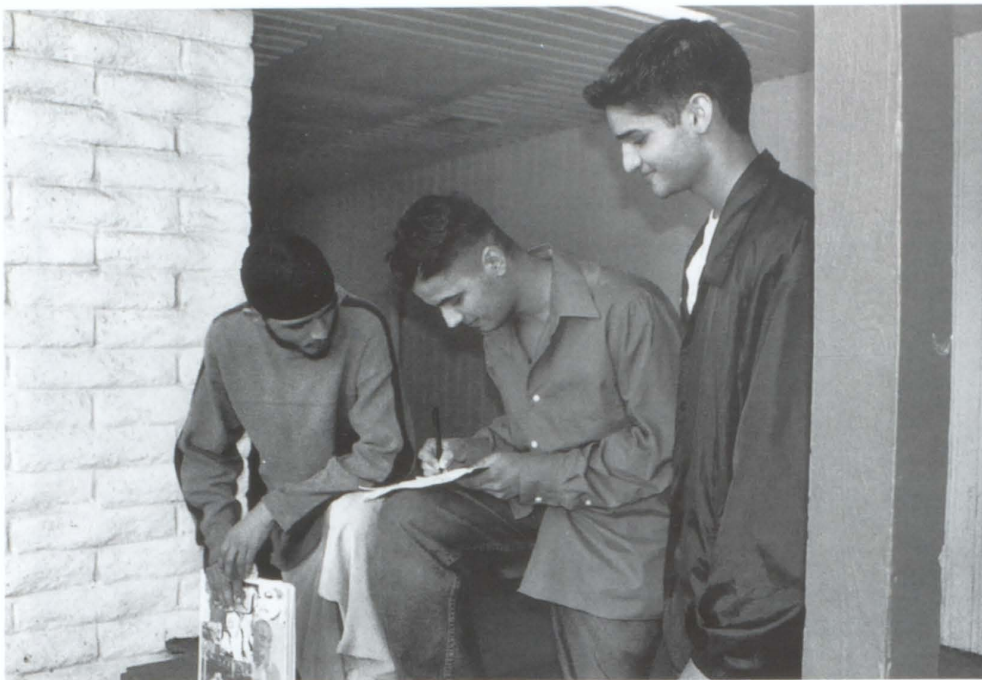

"I've been speaking Japanese for 14 years,"

Kenneth Dokko (07) said. He was born speaking Japanese. Kenneth explained, "I was born in America, but my parents are from Japan". Kenneth grew up speaking Japanese having learned it from his parents. Even though he is not from Japan he is fluent in Japanese. "I can talk to all kinds of different people, Japanese people," points out Kenneth, "I can watch more television too because I understand."

Being bilingual is certainly an advantage for Kenneth, but he points out that it can cause minor problems. "Sometimes, I'll speak in Japanese and I'll want to say the word in English," mentions Kenneth, "But it certainly is great to be able to speak both English and Japanese."

"Come on guys, help with my Spanish homework," pleaded Surinderpal Singh (04). Surinderpal's friends, Harkhamal Singh (04) and Baljit Singh (05) watched with amusement. "Sorry we speak Punjabi," said Harkhamal. (far left)

"Being able to speak Finnish doesn't just let you have your own secret language. It's so unique that people always pester me about it and ask me what I'm saying.

I laugh at how people don't even come close to pronouncing words right, not even my real name," commented Oskar Malik (05).

Nicole Akhverdiyvera (05) speaks in rapid Russian, puts away her cell phone and with the same ease turns to her friend and starts speaking in English. Though she switched between the two languages with ease, Nicole was born in Russia and Russian is actually her first language. "I've been here for 12 years," says Nicole in perfect English. "I came to the America when I was four, so I went to preschool here. It was pretty easy for me to learn being so young and all." Nicole came to the United States speaking Russian having had learned it from her mom and having had some schooling in Russia. "When I speak Russian, I'll insert English words," comments Nicole, "but English is easier for me since I've lived here most of my life."

Multilinguals in a Multiculture

Marcella Rodrigues (04) arrived in the United States from Brazil on August 21, 2003. "The weather here is so cold, especially in the morning," said Marcella. School, like the weather, was something she had to learn to adjust to. "In Brazil, we don't change classes like we do here. The teachers do. So I was lost the first few days." Language was another change that Marcella had to adapt to. "Everyone was speaking English, it was a new experience," she commented. Marcella who speaks Portuguese said she has a friend from Brazil here with whom she speaks Portuguese, "We speak Portuguese then all of a sudden I'll switch to English, and it throws me off," she added with a grin. Marcella said she doesn't like speaking Portuguese because she wants to practice and improve her English. "It can be frustrating at times. I want to explain myself, but I can't. I'm always carrying my little dictionary," she added. Despite the confusion that sometimes accompanied speaking two languages, Marcella still enjoyed the U.S., "I like it here a lot. In Brazil I was tired of seeing the same faces. I was ready for a change with new and different things."

Spread by: Yolanda De La Paz

Marcella Rodrigues sits patiently outside waiting for her English class to begin. "Learning to speak English has helped open the way for many things for me and has helped me in meeting and speaking to different people," said Marcella.

Shao Lan Zheng (05), Chao Lin Tseng (06), and Hiu Sz Liu (06), from right to left, eat their brunch eagerly engaged in what seems to be an interesting discussion. However, unless you speak Cantonese you cannot make an attempt to join in on their conversation.

"Being able to speak Burmese is great because it's like a secret language that isn't common like other languages such as Spanish and French. So if anyone knows my language I could actually talk, and the people around me (who don't understand Burmese) wouldn't understand a thing," said Steven Cho (05).

Sebastian Calvo (04) with a shy smile explained he comes from Uruguay. "I've only been here for eight months," he commented. Sebastian says he is enjoying the United States, "It's nice, very tranquil but I don't like the President," he adds. Sebastian speaks Spanish, Portuguese and English. "It's convenient to speak three languages. I can speak Portuguese with a girl and speak Spanish with many people here at school, but I still have to better my English." Being a trilingual in such a multicultural community must be an advantage for Sebastian but he also notes. "I prefer the diversity here as opposed to Uruguay, but it can bring problems like gangs." However, Sebastian points out he prefers school here. "I like it because they are better. There is more security and the student is given more importance."

Sitting on a bench, Sarah Rodas (04) is eating her lunch with both hands, chomping and chewing, making sure her stomach is filled before going back to class. Sarah bought a hot lunch, one of our school's choices, worth $2.25 and got as much as she could pile on her plate.

Because she is a dedicated student, Brittney Cooper (07) fills her back-pack preparing to go to her next class after brunch. Her locker is new, (as shown below) it was just put in this year, and hopefully there will be more new lockers to come.

During lunch, Amanda Morrison (06), uses her cell phone to call her friend to make sure she is on her way to bring her lunch from off campus. She is starving and lunch is too short for Amanda to get food herself.

Roberto Gomez (04) puts mayonnaise on his sub sandwich, wishing he was having some off campus restaurant food. He said, "I usually go off campus for lunch, but when I stay at school, I always eat a sub sandwich."

Delia Torres (07) is seen buying her food at the lunch line. Using her hard earned money, she gets the food she wants to quench her cravings. "The food here is great, my favorite is the chicken ceasar wrap. The prices are manageable, not too expensive and food quality is good."

Jordan Moore (04) studies briefly before his next class. "Lunch is very short, but it's a great length for a quick study period," said Jordan. He sits on a bench, hastily trying to finish his work so he can hopefully grab a bite to eat before the end of the lunch period.

Dine and Dash

The lines for food are too long, and if you go off campus, you still stand in a long line. We really should get a longer lunch period.

Heather Nueman (06)

Run, run, run as fast as you can; this was the way we dashed to dine. It really was a race to the lunch line. "By the time I get to the front of the line and get my food, there's no time to eat it," stated Stephanie Langerveld (04). After students got their food and socialized a bit, their break period was over, and it was back off to class. The food was usually hanging from students' mouths because they were cramming it down their throat. Marissa Moreno (05) said, "Lunch is so short. After I get my food from the lines or off campus, I'm late for my class." Lunch and brunch was supposed to be a relaxing getaway, but it proved to be a continuance of the ongoing anxiety of school. "The lines for food are too long, and if you go off campus, you still had to stand in a long line. We really should get a longer lunch period," declared Heather Nueman (06). Somehow, we all had managed to attain the art of dining and dashing.

The art of the hair. Sarah Kim (05) comes to school everyday with funky hair. In her classes and free time, she uses her talent on others. "Hair is something I mess with, which turns out to be nice," said Kim.

The art of making people laugh. Katrina Belda (06) can make anyone laugh with her funny faces and jokes. "I don't know why I just do crazy things like facial expressions, and people just start randomly laughing," said Belda. To be her friend you have to have a sense of humor.

The art of freely speaking your mind. People speak thier minds in poems, letters, and expressions, but here Zaki Farid (06) speaks his mind in an unusual way, freestyle. Freestyle is where there is no music, no tone, no beat just you and what you have to say. "I love freestyling, I do it whenever I want to express myself or speak my mind," said Farid.

Isaac Bolivar (05) is a very talented individual who will be famous one day. He can sing, play many different instruments, a comedian, and writes songs. He first started with this talent in '97 when his dad bought him his first guitar. "Whatever comes to me, I write it in muscial tones," says Isaac.

A breakdancer, Hip-Hop step addict, Nelson Pyi (04). Here is shows his skill of dancing. "I love dancing, it let's me be free and proves who I really am." You never know one day he'll be a famous background dancer for Britney Sprears.

"Talent is a special gift that some or most people have. It expresses who the person really is and what the person is capable of," said Steven Lopes (04).

"Talent is something everyone has, it is shown in a variety of ways, even though some don't always show it, we know they have it," said Ian McDonald (06).

Caution: Don't Try This At Home

Everyone possessed a hidden talent that was shown in a unique way. Most of us expressed our talents through musical instruments, voice, outstanding artistic and drawing abilities, dancing, or just funny everyday weirdness. Students used their talents in a variety of ways; at rallies, dances, and even in classrooms. Students saw many different things and learned from them; like taking a paintbrush and learning how to paint. "Talent is something so special, I notice it all the time and it's one in a million," said Brandy Dao (04). Students were different and showed it in various ways. Talent was used to also get to know someone better. "Talent is what makes life fun, we all have it," says Robert Lira (06). Everyone here beheld a talent, it didn't matter the shape, the size, age, or color, we all had something special and unique.

Scream Fest 2003 was a bone chilling extravaganza. The senior class of 2004 held Kennedy's first ever Halloween carnival on October 25, 2003. The highly anticipated carnival had a mixture of frightening experiences, and fun filled games for all ages. "It was an achievement to see our Halloween carnival come together and get published in the Argus," expressed Raihanna Estrada (04). The hard work and dedicated seniors didn't only spend their time working on the haunted house and preparing the game booths, but spent a portion of their time searching for a realistic fortune teller and providing great food for everyone to enjoy. What seemed to be endless hours of dedication for Kennedy's first Scream Fest turned out to be a huge success.

Popcorn, sodas, nachos, and candy were one of the most eye catching booths at the carnival. Asuka Yamaguchi (07) and Kwan Yee Chung (07) helped the senior class in a huge way by taking on the responsibility of working the food stand. "The haunted house decorations were very interesting. I was almost freaked out at the end," expressed Chung (07)

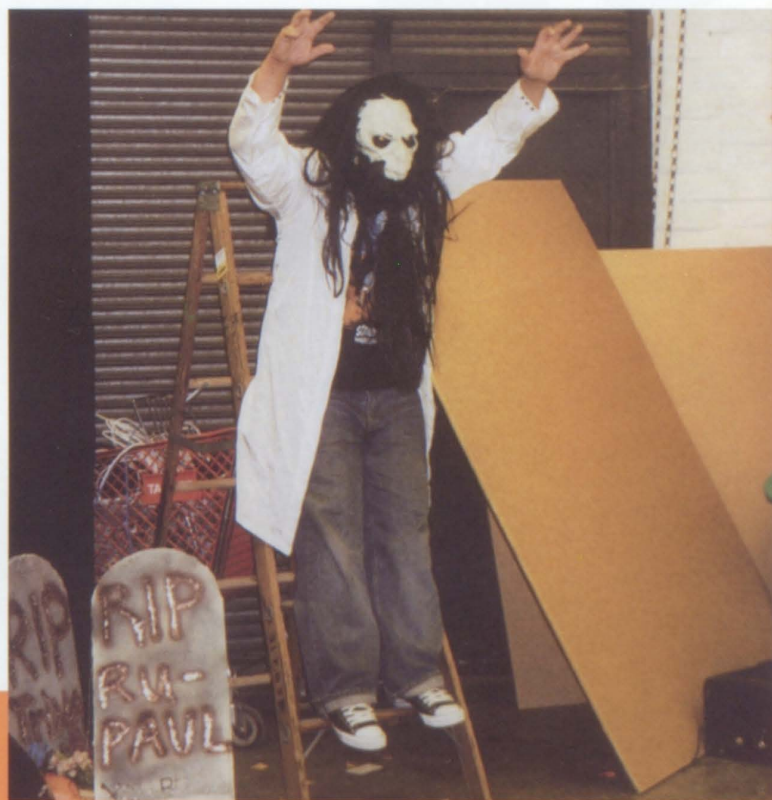

David Loya (04) reaches under the table to give his victims a frightening experience in the haunted house. Students run away terrified wondering who is under the mask. "The best part about working inside the haunted house was seeing the people's reactions when I scared them."

Junior Melissa Reyna may not appear scary checking this skeleton's heartbeat, but it was a different story once the lights were out and the haunted house tours began. Her high pitched screams seemed to have gotten the job done. "Volunteering at the scream fest carnival, was fun because I was working with friends, and helping out the senior class," said Melissa Reyna.

Amber McGee (04) is resting in peace in her coffin waiting for the next trespassers to walk by. "We spent a lot of time putting it together and it turned out great," replied McGee.

Oscar Beteta (04) gets ready to jump up and frighten the next brave visitors that come into the Scream Fest haunted house not knowing what to expect. "It was different because it's not a fundraiser that is held often and it was a lot of fun to work on," said Beteta

Kayla Jones (04) takes a well deserved break from scaring her peers, to play around with her headless friend.

Katrina Belda (06) slices up some meat to make her cash at Togo's. "It takes up all my weekend time, but hey, I'm makin' money," explains Belda.

Amber Jackson (04) has been a varsity cheerleader since her junior year. "Cheerleading is great because I love dancing, and I get to make so many new great friends," says Jackson.

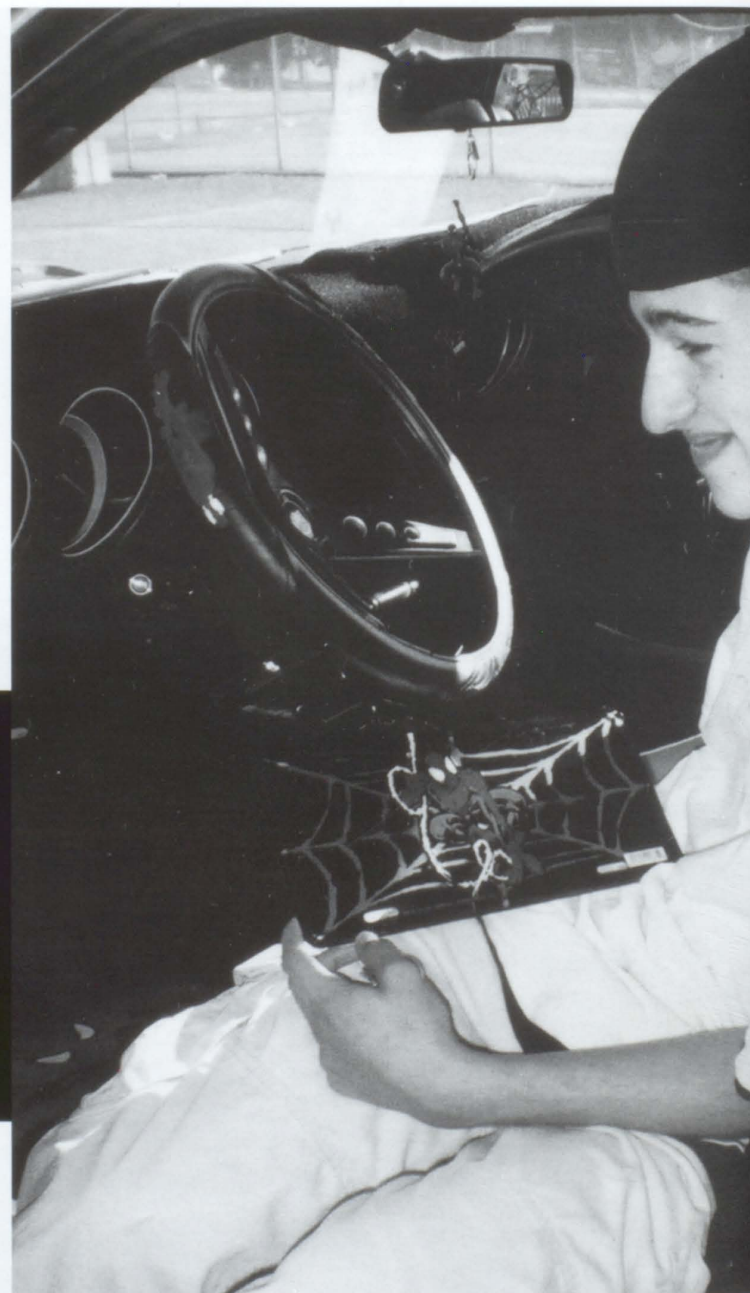

To better prepare himself for the future, Jared Milnes (04) chooses to work at Safeway located in the Fremont Hub. "It helps me build responsibility skills which will help me out after I graduate," stated Milnes.

Alex Shaffer (05) spends his hot and sunny days in the water. "I love the way the cold water feels on my body right when I jump in. It soothes me in a way," Shaffer casually remarked.

"I've grown up with spider man. Me and him are old pals!" exclaims Mike Meneses (04). Meneses shows his love for this super hero by decking out his 69 Mach 1 Mustang in as much spider man memorabilia he can get his hands on.

Dancing alongside Chuck E. Cheese is only one of the many tasks Kayala Jones (04) performs at her after school job. "Having a job makes me feel independent and responsible," says Jones.

"How many in your party?" If you stopped by Red Robin at Newpark Mall, you might over hear Priscilla Pulido (05) ask this question. She was in charge of not only seating people, but also taking orders to go.

Boredom. Everyone had experienced it, but how do they deal with it? Some approached it by taking up an interesting hobby. Others thought of it as a money making possibility. Getting a job was an obvious cure for boredom and a nice way to pick up extra cash. "The money I get from work pays for the fun I have on my days off," explained Anthony Locicero (04), who worked at Safeway in the Fremont Hub. If money isn't a problem, then students were always resorting to do something they enjoyed. "Every weekend I go skating with my friends," said Daniel Miranda (04), "we're not making money, but it's still fun and passes the time." Whatever students choose to do, be it getting a job or taking up a hobby, they were gaining valuable skills for their future while having fun at the same time.

Life Beyond School

After five long days of tests, homework, and waking up before the sun was out, students finally had something to look forward to: the weekend. "I finally got to sleep in!" proclaimed freshman, Madina Omar, "I got a few days to myself and I got to do what I wanted." Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors all enjoyed the weekend, but how did weekend activities differ among classes? The age gap between the new freshmen and the reigning seniors was a factor in what each class considered 'fun.' "You have more freedom as a senior," Daniel Munoz (04) explained, "you have your car, you can go where you want, and you can finally get into rated 'R' movies." Whether it be having a blast with your friends, or just hanging out at home and relaxing, everyone could agree on one thing: It beat being in school.

It's Friday night at Red Robin and senior Robert Luna is enjoying a night out with friends, while intensively coloring his kid's menu. Robert spends his days away from school with his friends, hanging out, and having a good time. "It doesn't matter where you are," he states, "just as long as you're with people you know you'll have fun with."

Freshman Patrick Witt proves you don't need the typical set of wheels to have a blast. "I don't have to have my license to have a good time," he explains, "all I need are my rollerblades." Witt spent his weekends searching for new places to perfect his latest tricks.

Why not spend your weekend supporting your fellow classmates? That's exactly what freshman, Nick Harlan did. "I went to almost every Varsity basketball game, just to see Devante Thomas. He is the best." Harlan proved that having some school spirit could be a cool thing.

Simon Wiscombe (04) ASB executive president announced that the meeting was in session.	ASB was asked if there were any clubs fundraisers needing to be approved.	The commissioners stood and called on to give updates on international week, sideshow, and community service. ASB gives approval and input on all events.	A rep. from each class office stood and gave updates on what was happening with their classes. Including upcoming prom plans and fundraisers. Finally, the meeting was adjourned until next Wednesday.

ASB meetings are open to both members and non-members. Scott Walters (04) an Anime club meeting attends the ASB meeting to get a fundraiser approved for his club." The ASB meetings are fun to attend and I get to meet other upper classmates." stated freshman class officer Jessica Gong (07). Isheen Herrera (04) ASB executive board treasurer added, "I like ASB because I get to help our school and spend time with my friends."

ASB was a students organization, that stands for Associated Student Body and existed to organize what happened in school, events. By setting up different duties, provide fundraisers and putting on dances as well as other activities. "I really like to participate in all the activites, that's most of the reason why I joined." said Samantha Chu (06)

While most club meetings were held during lunch or after school, the weekly meeting for ASB started early on Wednesday mornings. Unlike other students who were still sleeping in their warm beds, waiting for their alarms to go off at 8:30, the members of ASB were at school to approve fundraisers, activities, and communicate the problems and events occurring on campus. "It's too early for a meeting, but I like being involved so I don't mind." stated Katrina Belda (06)

ASB was divided up into three branches. Executive, commissioners, and class officers. Each branch represented something different. Executive branch represented the heads of all activities. They also gave the final approval of everything. Commissioners were the people who served as links between ASB and organizations. The class officers represent the specific classes. They also helped put together fundraisers and other major events. "Each branch was important, they all had their jobs. said" Sheree Rodriguez (06)

The Inside story

Coach Webb and Mrs. Waller were the head advisors of the ASB. They are leaders because they wanted to help out and make sure the school year was the best. "They needed an advisor and I wanted to help out, let's have some fun." Said, Webb. Waller added, "I loved getting involved with the school projects and ASB was one of them."

Moving Your Goals 4 Completion

Spread by: Clai Sibley

Every club had a goal. Some clubs goals were not as extreme as others, but one made sure to fulfill it. Clubs like Project 540, Club Earth, CSF, and Forensics had many goals. "While I'm in 540, my goal is to improve the school by getting students to participate in the many clean up days that we hold," stated Kharren Co (06). When they got that goal, they made sure to hold on to it because nothing was more superior than completing a goal. "When I participate in Club Earth and I finish recycling all of the bottles and cans after school, I feel so proud," replied Victoria Wang (04). In conclusion, everyone had a goal and they made sure to fulfill it. It was a huge and difficult task, but they overcame the obstacles and succeeded!

Michael Campos (05) , Jessica Gong (07), and Kwan Yee Chung patiently sits as they wait for the meeting to begin at lunch time. " 540 is a way for students to make a difference at Kennedy by working together as a team! It's a good way for me to get my community service credits too," stated Michael.

While in the smoldering heat after school, Victoria Wang (04) and Lily Zeng (04) pull cans and bottles out of the recycling bins to turn in. "I like recycling the cans and bottles regardless of the heat," said Lilly.

Soaking up some Culture

When International Week kicked off, it was easy to see why Kennedy has a reputation for being one of the most diverse schools. However, not only did Kennedy students show their pride in their diverse ethnic backgrounds, but also took pleasure in teaching others more about their culture. "I like performing because I get to share my culture," said Carlo Castuciano (05). Students from all different ethnic clubs had the chance to perform at the lunch throughout the week, but the culmination of all the hard work was truly evident at Friday's rally. Students enthusiastically shared their heritage while the rest of the school looked on and enjoyed the show. "I thought the rally was really cool," remarked Gina Quoc, "I especially liked the performance of Tinikling, and the Indian dance as well." Though Kennedy's students came from many different backgrounds, with many different beliefs, and many different ways of approaching things, International week provided a wonderful time to show unity and soak up some culture at the same time.

Mani Bhatia (06) and Sandeep Sunny (05) exuded enthusiasm as they were cheered on by the crowd watching. As a part of the Desi club, Mani and Sandeep showed their pride in their Indian heritage.

Huong Nguyen (04) presents a traditional, and very graceful Vietnamese dance. The members of the Vietnamese club incorporated the movement of scarves and hats into their performance.

The Inside story

When she was selected to be a club commissioner on ASB, Swati Buch (04) knew that it wouldn't be an easy job. She has taken on the responsibility of setting up the week's performances, and organizing the International Week rally. "I really enjoyed organizing International Week. It was fun working with different clubs, and putting together a show that expresses Kennedy's diversity." Without her hard work, International Week would not have been such a huge success.

Monday

The first day of International Week lunch activities kicked off with the Afghan Club performing a dance and modeling some of their traditional clothes. "The performance went well, but it took a lot of practice and hard work," commented Menna Hosmany (07)

Tuesday

At lunch on Tuesday, The Filipino Youth Coalition demonstrated Tinikling, a traditional dance from the Philippines. Elenoa Aipoalani (04) also stepped out into the quad to show a traditional Tahitian dance. Elenoa testified that "The dance takes a lot of time and practice to perfect every move."

Wednesday

La Raza Unida decided to show different types of Mexican dance as they performed the modern dances Banda and Macarena, as well as a traditional dance from Michoacan. Dancers Daniela Ruelas (07), Margarita Guzman (05), and Leticia Ruiz (07) concentrate on the complicated footwork involved in their dance.

Thursday

The Desi Club danced into the quad during the last of the lunch rallies. They had the opportunity to perform a choreographed dance, and show off some free-styling as well. Their colorful clothes and pride in their culture was truly obvious.

All watched as Houny Nyugen (04), the President of the VSA club, explains the issues of the day to the other members. Since they meet at lunch every Thursday, they have to eat and carry on the meeting at the same time.

Carlos Castuciano (05) stands before the club showing the dance that the FYC club would perform during International week. International week was a few week away and the club hoped to get as many members to join in their native dance that they would be performing.

Diversity; being different and distinct. Over the past few years, Kennedy High School had become well known for it. In our diversity we come together, but also feel the need to join in a group to define our culture. Laura Amsler (06) said, "All religious and nationalities can come together to be friends, learn about other people and their heritage." Clubs existed to help the students learn about the culture of others and their own. "Students who attend clubs at J.F.K. are able to expand their knowledge towards other cultures besides thier own because clubs provide a free invitation for all," said Sara Ezcatec (06). Once they had learned about their cultures, during multicultural week, they were able to combine each of their unique ethnicities into an attention grabbing performance. Santana Jaramillo (05) stated, "I just think that by combining the clubs together, we will have a better understanding of each other." Cultural clubs were a way of getting together and learning about each others background and also confirming the fact we were known our diversity.

Instead of spending time with her friends over the weekend Nancy Hang (04) joined Crossing the Bridge giving her the opportunity to spend time with the senior citizens, share stories and play board games.

At lunch it seemed as if everyone in the quad was relaxing and enjoying his or her break, from an outsider's point of view. However, if students were to walk into a classroom they might encounter a club meeting. Instead of enjoying their free time these students from different backgrounds and grade levels met together once a week planning how they were going to reach out to the community. "Even though clubs meet half the time they are suppose to, they are still able to accomplish what they set out to do," said Oskar Malik (05). It was a surprise that teachers weren't the only people who were devoted to help others, because behind closed doors so were students. "Clubs are a lifetime experience and can also be helpful if they stick to the agenda," said Mallory Furnier (04).

experience individuality community success

Was there a point to all that learning? Did we really use any of that information after we moved our tassels to the left and walked off the stage with our diplomas? At work, in your every day lives, and in college you unknowingly use now or will use later, skills you learned in high school. "I've learned that when I have a problem to break it down into steps, so it is easier to solve," said Anna Bolino (06). Math for instance helped budget how much money you had to spend until your next paycheck. In filling out a job application, how well you did in English was the deciding factor of whether or not you get the job you wanted. Not everyone excelled at school but there were a lot of other skills that were taught at Kennedy. "I've learned that it's good to make new friends but keep the old too!" Erica Dominquez (07) expressed. High School sports could have eventually paved the way to a professional sport. To play a sport, you had to maintain at least a 2.0 GPA, which encouraged athletes to be conscious of their grades. Jeff Loya (07) believed, "If you can't be successful in academics, you shouldn't be able to play sports, only the students that try should be the ones allowed to play." If you were especially talented, colleges gave scholarships to play at their school.

Strands of Technology classes wisdom

With the ever changing demands of the international technology society Kennedy has worked to educate us in further educational experiences. What were the purposes of the strand classes? The strand curriculum was designed to all come together for the "Senior Project". As freshmen we were guided into Computer Operations as an introduction to the five magnet strands. "I learned a lot from my Computer Operations class, I still use what I learned everyday," said Eden Thompson (05). These five strands: Video/Audio Production, Mass Communication, Business Applications, Computer Studies and Electronic Arts were intended to prepare us for the changing demands of the 21st century. Those classes were an opportunity for students to develop technological, academic, communication skills, and to become emotionally, physically and socially responsible. Hop Hoang (04) had experienced first hand how beneficial his Computer Repairs class was, "this class will help me in the future because technology will continue to grow. With this class I will be introduced to the basics of future technology." As a Multimedia Magnet school we had succeeded to grow and become successful in guiding the new generation.

Joyce Lee (04) works on her yearbook spread and hopes to make her deadline. "I like this class because I get a chance to make something that people will see and have to keep forever," said Joyce.

Joseph Cheema (07) doesn't waste any time in Computer Operations. "This class helps us learn to type, use programs and is helpful in school projects," he says. Along with his other classmates he continued to work on the computers.

Harvey Mestas (05) sketches out a figure. "Art is a very interesting class because you get to learn about the different art forms and experiment with them," said Harvey. He hopes to one day become an artist.

Janet Aviles (06), Shirely Du (06) and Jacob Baptista (04) film for an anti-smoking PSA. This is only one of the many projects they do for Beginning Video Class. "I like this class because it's fun and we get a lot of opportunities," said Jacob.

Esmeralda Haro (07) looks over her negatives in Photo class. "Being in this class has helped me a lot in photography. I love taking pictures now," said Esmeralda. She looks forward to putting her skills to use.

It's just another day in TV Journalism for Brandy Dao (04) and Marcela Munoz (04). They had just finished filming and were ready to start editing. "This class has taught us a lot about programs and using the camera," says Marcela. After they have completed editing, they hope it will air on the school's show, Kennedy Connections.

In Computer Operations Khesra Ghafoor (07) is expanding his knowledge in computer skills. "This class is going to help in the future for my homework assignments," says Ghafoor.

Senior Project

Putting it all together

"Learning how to use video helped us a lot with the technology component in our project. I think it's good our school offers classes that relate to senior project. Its good for the school and students."

-Jazzmin Deras (04)

"All the strand classes that I took several years ago such as Web Design have helped me a lot in my multimedia project. It came out great. It wouldn't have been so successful without my prior experience."

-Hassanean Al-Baker (04)

"Computer art class helped me with designing the website for our project. I wouldn't have known how to build a website without those classes. It showed me how much I can benefit from my class."

-Koysharn Lee (04)

"The classes that I took helped with the creativity in our project. It was fun and I got a chance to meet new people. It helped me learn to shoot, build websites and create pictures. I also had fun doing everything."

-Raymond Peng (04)

The Teaching Method

What teaching method helps the most?

"The teaching method that helps me the most in learning is when a teacher uses a visual aid along with an explanation. This particular method helps because I like to see what I'm hearing about. It's much more captivating then just getting a lecture."

- James Martinez (06)

"When I do work out of the books it helps me because it reteaches the lecture that we had in class. This teaching method makes it more easier to understand the subject." Punita studys hard to make sure she will succeed.

-Punita Patel (05)

"I learn best with three types of repetition; when I hear an instruction, see an example, and when I do it myself.

Repetition infuses the subject permanently into your mind."

-Tanisha Ball (04)

"When I'm taking notes it makes it easier to study for me to take a quiz or test.

After I study, I am sure I'll get a passing grade." This is the best teaching method for Adnan. He makes sure he has instilled all the information.

-Adnan Khan (05)

Shabnam Shariti (05), works at her desk finding vocabulary for her history class. "Looking up the definitions in the back the is a lot easier than finding it in the chapter."

While sitting at his desk, Austin Anyosa (04) quickly skims through the story that he is about to take a quiz in his literature class. Austin says he, "likes classic literature, so he must enjoy his english class."

Juniors Joe Delcuore, Michael Rucinski, and Kevin Densmore sit as they draw their poster for Mrs. Santillan's U.S. History class. "You get to learn what the U.S. has gone through in the past," said Michael.

In her English class, Scarlett Spangler (07) cuts out certain shapes for her in-class project. According to Scarlett, the highlight experience of her English class is, "being able to be creative by writing stories."

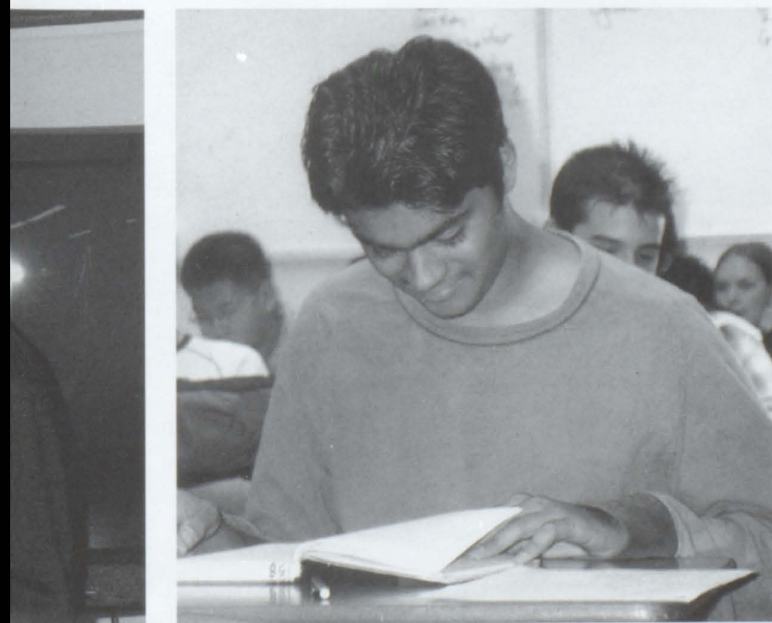

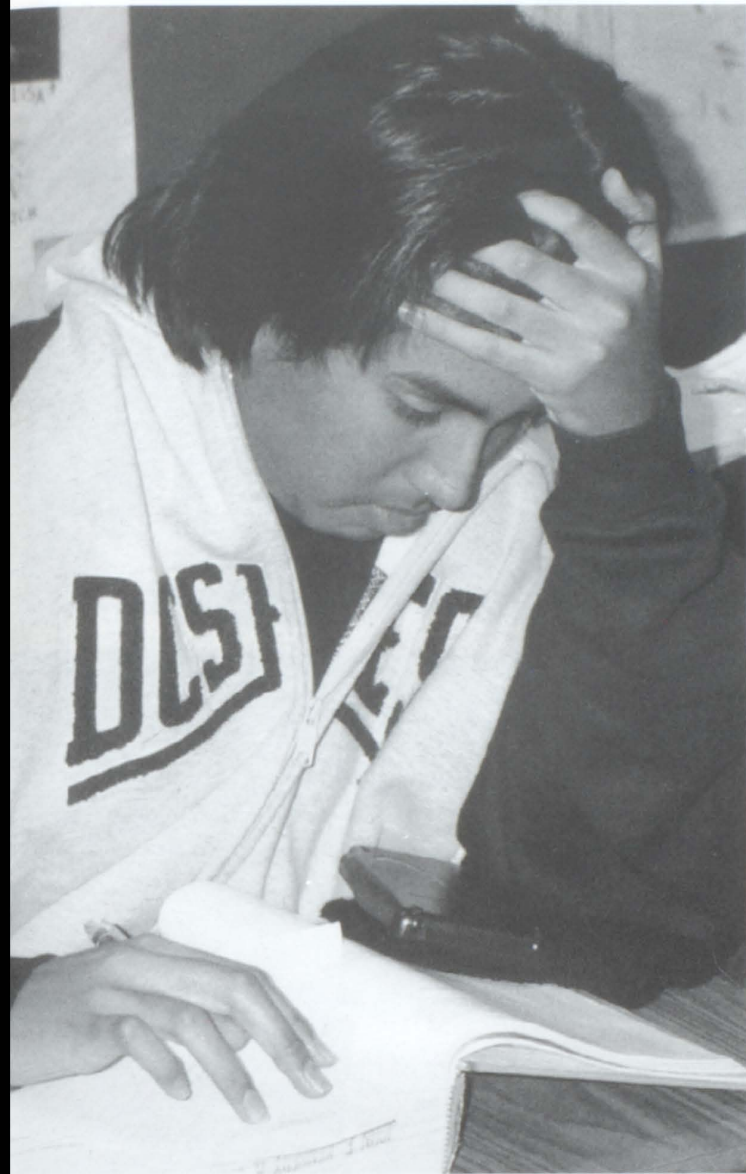

History and English

Does History and English help us later on in life?

We got the whole world in our hands..." To help students handle the "whole world", English and History classes gave us knowledge to help us face life after high school. By giving us these tools, we've learned how to communicate in a world where only the fittest survive. "We use English as a way of making contact with the rest of the world, so English is necessary, no matter how boring it may be at times," replied Stephanie Wall (04). At Kennedy English was a four-year requirement to make sure we became familiar with all the wondrous things about our long-standing language. History taught us about the past so we could learn from our mistakes and avoid them in the future. "History teaches us to not repeat the past and it provides knowledge of what we can do better," said Michelle Baker (05). History also taught us to look to the past as a guide to trends within our culture. Alex Hilke (05) feels that "History is used for the progression of culture and technology." Many opportunities in life required both learning from the mistakes of our forefathers and learning how to communicate with others.

Russel Price (05) tries to finish his work for his history class. So that he will have time to talk to his friends. He said, "history is boring but we need to learn about it so we don't repeat the mistakes of the past."

While in class, Shawnte Scottis is interested in the past as long as she keeps her mind open. "I like to learn about the past, because the events reflect our future," said Shawnte.

Biakas Satpathy (06), smirks while silently reading an interesting book in english class. He enjoys learning about all the different ways people write to make stories exciting.

Grisel Inguanzo(07) explains her model in her earth science during a presentation. "It was really cool learning about volcanoes and how they erupt," replied Grisel Inguanzo.

Taking notes is an important part of any science class. Tiffany Gaspie (06) and Joseph Monarez (06) compare their notes after a lecture given in biology class. "I don't like it because it can be boring at times," expressed Tiffany Gaspie.

Math students Kendra Ligon (07) and Rene Castro (07) sit in the computer lab discussing thier assignment while waiting for further instructions from their teacher. "Math is better when you can understand it," said Kendra.

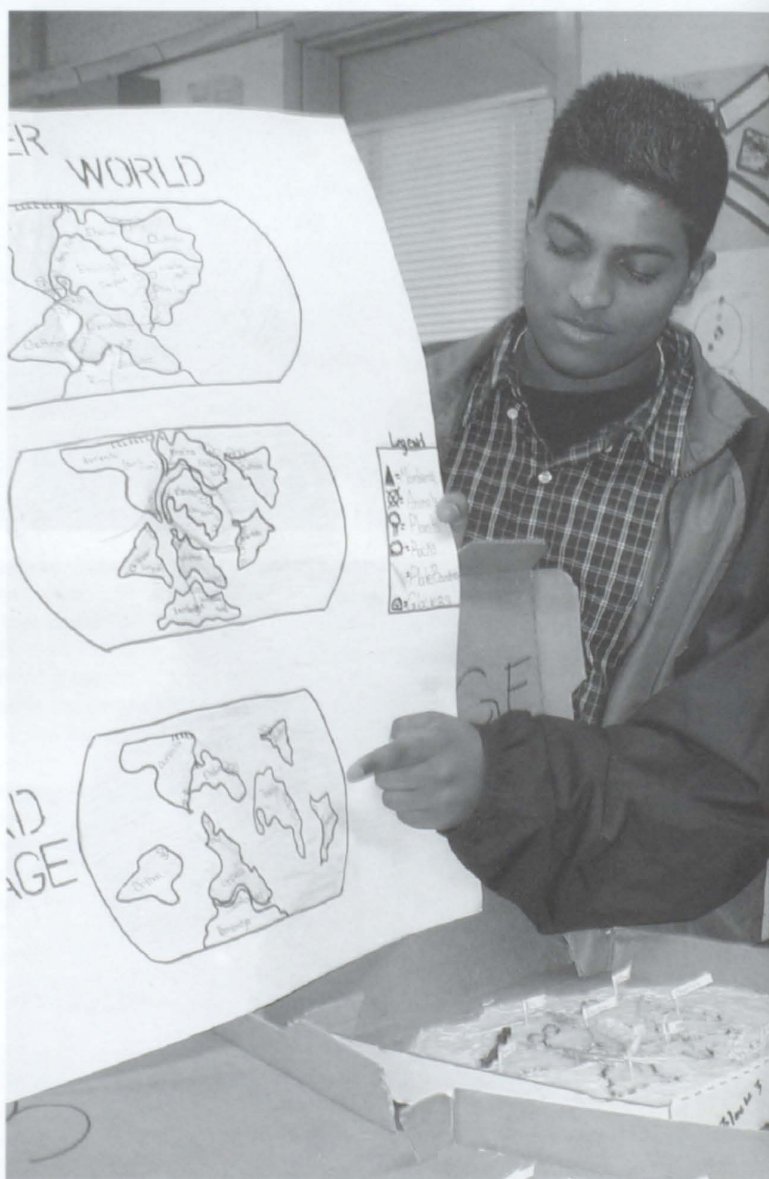

1 +1=2, 8-3=5, 6x6=36, 21/7=3. These simple math problems were what math students mastered before moving on to a more advanced class. Who would have ever known that these basic math problems would lead students to Algebra, Geometry, Algebra 2 Trig.

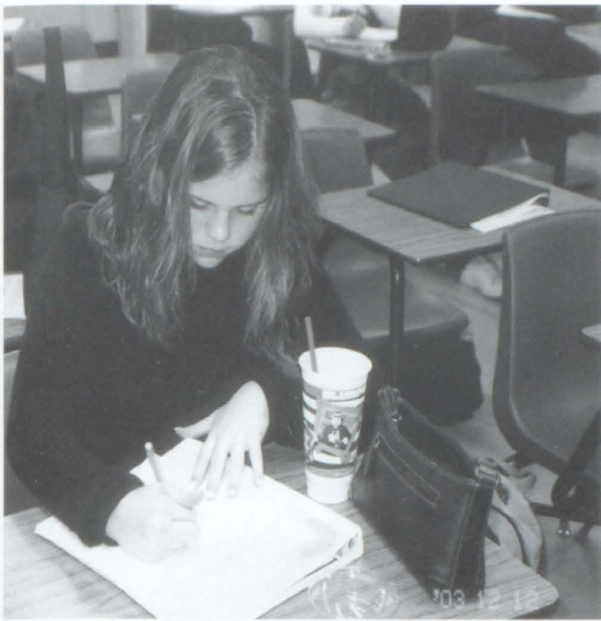

"It's a lot harder. It's so much like algebra 1 but I'm not used to doing it so it's hard," expressed Anthony Lopez (06) a algebra 2 Trig student. When preparing for the SAT'S it was very important that one was prepared for the math section. Studying, and reviewing every math topic was key in scoring high. "Taking the SAT is something that I prepared for. The endless hours of studying payed off because the math section wasn't that difficult," said Edward Andres (04). Not everyone took algebra, geometry, or algebra 2 trig, but everyone had to take the basic elementary math, which was a part of everyone's daily life.

Have you ever looked at a plant and wondered why all plants are living, what the inside of a frog looks like, or what causes a chemical reaction? "When taking a science class I discovered that everything has pretty much already been covered," said Nicholas Chapman (07). No one really knows how many questions are answered when taking a science class. "I think it's interesting how volcanoes are formed, and I'm looking foward to learning more," expressed Venessa Messier (07). The knowledge you gained in science, biology, chemistry, or physics was limitless ranging from volcanoes, to the law of motion.

No one ever said that math was easy but this freshmen Amanda Bitting (07) takes the time to correct her work on her paper before turning it in and getting it graded. "I don't like math and it's really difficult. I mean it's really hard," said Amanda Bitting.

Math is the one thing on this math students mind. From taking notes to correcting her work Ha Vo (06) is a focused math student. "It's challenging but it's fun to meet higher classmen," replied Ha Vo.

"The best part about science is that I get to learn things about the earth I didn't know. The fun of science was the labs especially when we did the lab on light and energy because I got to play around with the different types of lights."

-Corbrae Smith - 07

"The good part of having biology honors, are the labs, and hands on activities. Plus it's an advantage having an advanced class."

-Chad Stein - 06

Science Plus

What's the best part of having a science class?

"I liked taking algebra because it was easy and pretty mindless to understand. Knowing all the formulas made it easy for me to do the work."

-Rachelle Wright - 05

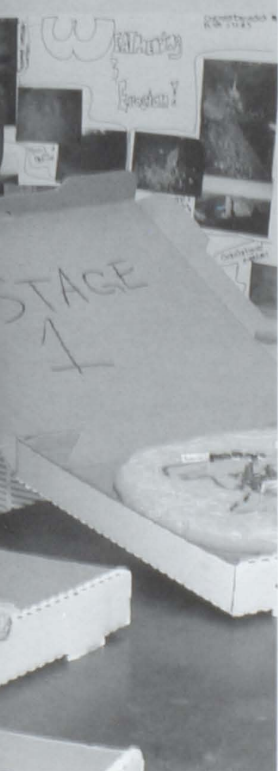

"I enjoy taking calculus because it's some what of a challenge for me, and I like that. I like calculus because math has always been my favorite subject and it comes easy to me."

Nehal Quaraishi (07) gets ready to present his project. There is no doubt that he spent hours preparing and making sure that everything was covered. "Ten hours making the plates was hard," expressed Nehal Quaraishi.

Keith Gandy (04) sits in Mr.Yee's algebra two trig class revising his work and writing down any last minute questions he might need to ask before taking a test. "Math stimulates my mind," said Keith Gandy.

"This class has made me more creative and I now appreciate art a lot more because it takes a lot more work and time than I expected."

- Tri Phan (05)

"You wouldn't think that taking pictures was so complex until you've had this class. Taking pictures use to be so easy when you could break every rule to photography, but when you're being graded different."

- Sara Grimm (05)

"I realize art is a whole lot harder than I expected and that it takes a lot of patients.

Also when it comes to art I realized I'm not really that talented."

- Amanda Hill (06)

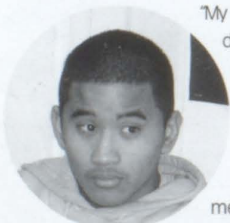

"My view of art has definitely changed. I like that I get to express my imagination in a new way. Taking this class has made me more creative and now I enjoy art more than I use to. It has opened my eyes to the world of art."

- Jr. Manuzon (05)

How has your view of fine arts changed since you've taken one?

Mayel Diaz-Torres (06) prepares a portofolio to organize her pictures in photography. "I wanted to take Photo because I enjoy it and Because I love to Caputer the nice moments that last forever," she replied.

"It makes you proud if you worked long and hard on a project and it turns out like you expect," says Christina Vargas(05) as she works on a project in her art class.

Sijiu Zhang (04) gets down and dirty as he forms his creation on a spindal in ceramics. "I like using my hands to create things," he stated "Video is a way for me to be creative and I want to be a director , so this is good experience," replied Derrick Nguyen (04). Here he needs down to get the perfect shot for his next project.

Erica Scoles (04) videotapes the class catching all the action on tape. "I really enjoy filming and creating the videos," said Erica.

Willa Chen (04) practices her drawing skills as she copies a picture in art class. "By using just a pencil and techniques of shading, I was able to realistically draw a landscape," said Willa.

"A photograph is a million words and everyone has a different thought about it," stated Ling Dang (06) as he works with one of his photos.

Video

The video and fine art departments at Kennedy gave us the chance to be creative and express ourselves in a new way. With so many different classes from art to photography, to video and drama, there was something to inspire anyone. "I like the color and the creativity to express my thoughts," says

Helena Zhou (04) of the reason she took art. Some just enjoy the process of the classes like Salwa Sweilem (05) in photography. She stated, "I like printing pictures. I never had a class like this before, it's pretty radical." Others prepared for the future like Aisha Wahab (05) from TV journalism. She explains, "I like it because if you want it as a career it helps you prepare for deadlines." The main thing in those classes was just to have fun. "It doesn't matter if you do good or not as long as you try," Matt Lean (07) so rightly says. No matter what the reason was for taking a video or fine art class, they had a great time. Who knows, maybe your work inspired others to give fine art or video a try.

Foreign Language

Excercise Your Right... To Speak
Two Languages

P.E.

America was filled with many cultures not all English speaking, this was why it was important to understand at least the basics of some of the most popular foreign languages. "In case I travel to another country, I would know the basics of the language, and I would be able to communicate with other people," said Michael Armas (06). School was a great place to introduce a second language through memorization and a lot of practice. In the work world, a bilingual person has a better chance of getting a job than a person who only speaks English. "There were four other people applying for the same job as I was, but since I speak a second language, I was the one hired," explained Javier Martinez (04). In a world like today, everyone could use that extra advantage.

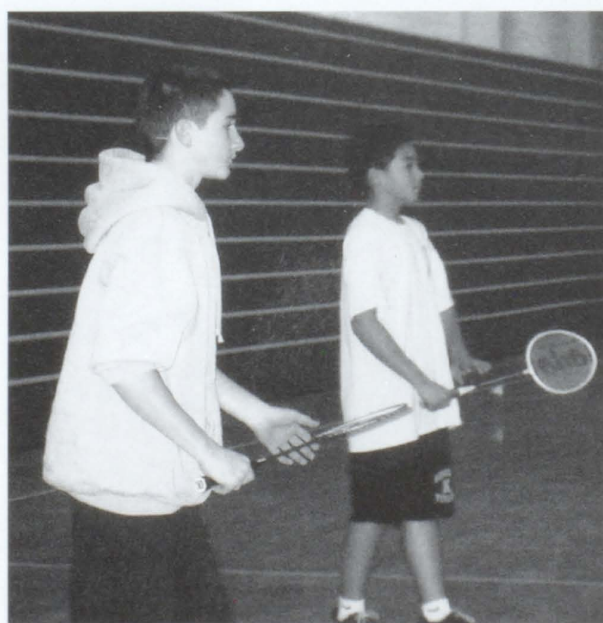

Physical Education to some is one of the most dreaded period but to others it meant challenges waiting to be met. We're all a little athletic and our teachers were just waiting to get it out of us. Anthony McDowell (07) commented, "P.E. can be a great oppurtunity for people who thought they were ahtletically challenged to realize their full potential as athletes." Whether it was playing basketball, tennis or badmitten through out our P.E. years we found that there was a sport we happen to love.

Swimming is a required activity for all freshmen. These freshmen have fun splashing around on a hot day.

"I'm really happy because this is the last year I have to take P.E." says Sandra Ponce (06). Sanda keeps warm in her santa hat as she dribbles a basketball.

Unanimous boys play badmitten. In order to improve their skills, they compete against eachtother.

Andrew Gedeon (06) shoots and scores two points for his team. "I play basketball for the school but when I play in P.E. its just fun with my friends," responded Andrew.

"Even though Alanis Morissette said "Thank you in Brazil" while she was in Peru, we still chose her for our spanish project," says Laura Zimbrick (06).

"P.E. in highschool is a lot more fun than Jr High because there is so many more sports to play, it's not the same stuff everyday."

-Jim Griffith (07)

"It's alot easier to pass P.E this year, because the teachers don't really care if you dont participate. They kind of just let you do your own thing. As long as your'e doing something they don't

Raising the Bar

Has tutoring helped your grade?

"I want to keep my grades up, so I go to tutoring to help me with them, and so far it has been working. I get help with most of my homework, especially geometry."

-Daniel Suarez (06)

"Mr. Cannady, has helped me a lot after school with my geometry work. It helps me maintain a "C" because I know what I'm doing and I know how to solve problems on my homework."

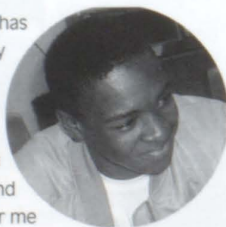

-Vuong Phan (06)

"I think that tutoring has made a difference, I understand the assignments better, and know how to do my homework without getting stuck."

-Mary Tejada (06)

"Tutoring has definitely helped my grades a lot, I was failing all of my classes before I came for help, and now I have B's, and C's. It's easier for me now, and I know what I'm doing."

-Rockwell Patterson (06)

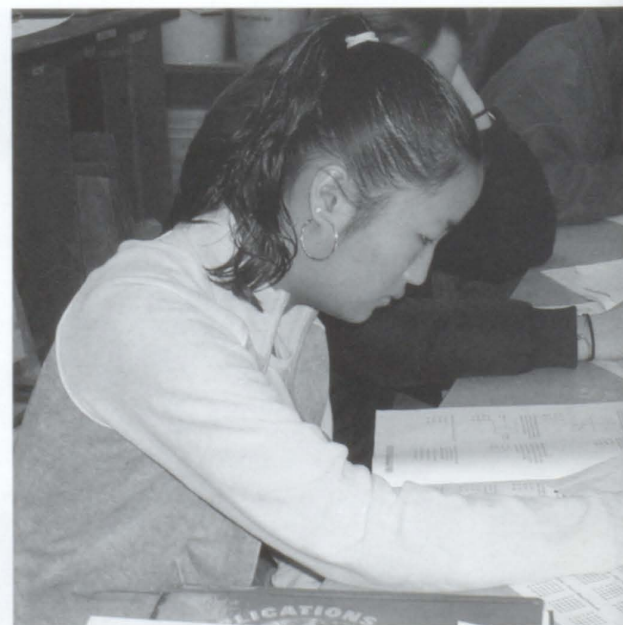

Mr. Scott Cannady shows Freshta Hassani (06) how to solve a tough geometry problem, "I really like the way that Mr. Cannady teaches, he shows you how to do it, as well as explains it."

"I help my bestfriend Monique with her history homework, so that she doesn't get grounded over the weekend, and we can hangout," said Alexis McDonald (06).

Joy Collins (05) stated "I don't feel that the practice testing is really helping me, now that I see the questions, it makes me more nervous," as she concentrated on solving a math problem.

"I think it's good for those that didn't do so well last year but I really don't think I need to practice," said David Cullen (05), while studying his test booklet.

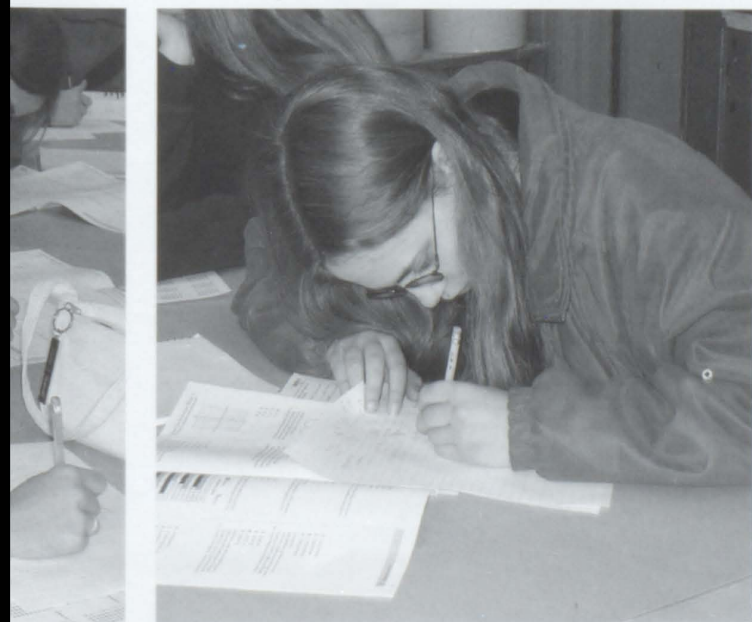

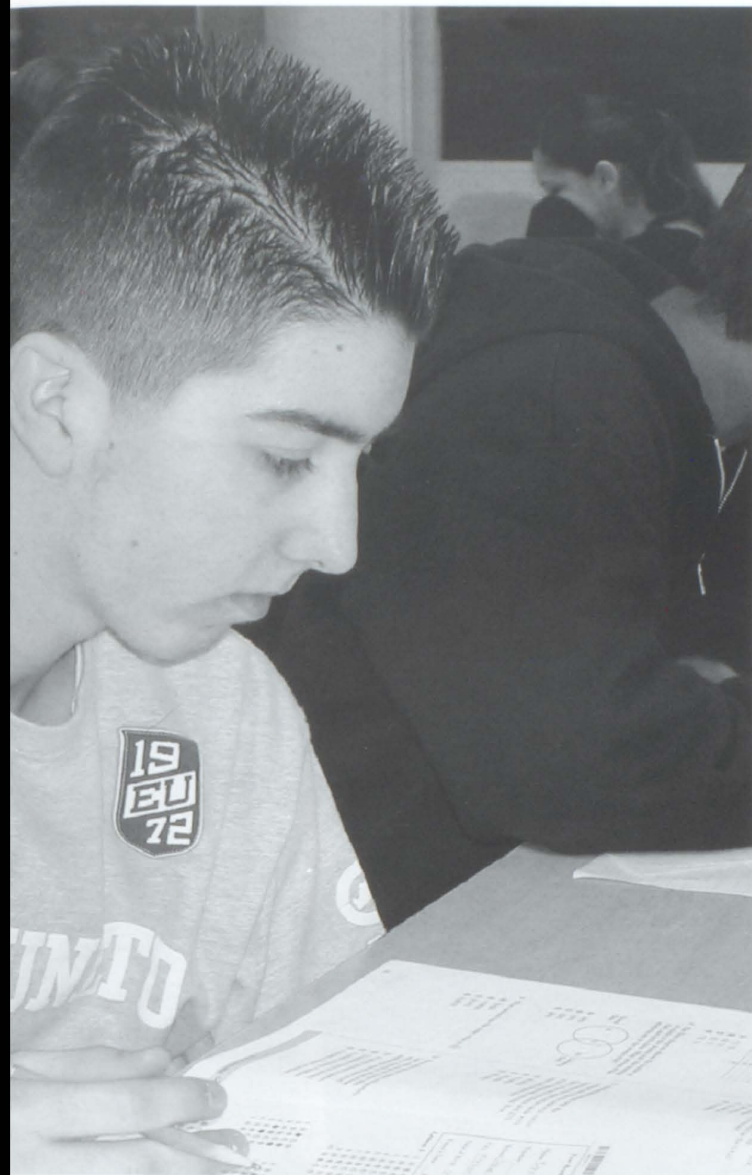

Tutoring & CAT 6

Cracking open the books

Many students took time after school to tutor others to help them improve grades and test scores. "I have to show them what I know and teach them how I find learning the easiest," explained Joseph Naicker (04). While some students found learning easy, others aren't so sure whether or not they need to find X or to draw a triangle to solve their proof. After school tutoring helped Kennedy students raise their test scores to an all time high. Although Kennedy wasn't known for their test scores, but 2003 changed it all. We increased our scores from 648 to 681, a gain of 33 points! The change not only showed in test scores, but also in school wide grades. Our school pride had also been raised. Everyone has tried hard to keep up these scores. On Wednesdays during homeroom, freshman, sophomores, and juniors practiced for the new CAT 6 standardized tests. Math and English support classes also helped make a big contribution to our success.

Christina Vargas (05) said, "The practice testing that we are doing in homeroom is a valuable part in the testing process, it gives us a good chance to pass."

"I think it's good that we get a chance to practice and prepare for that test" explained Jessica Sanchez (05), as she read the story passage in her test booklet.

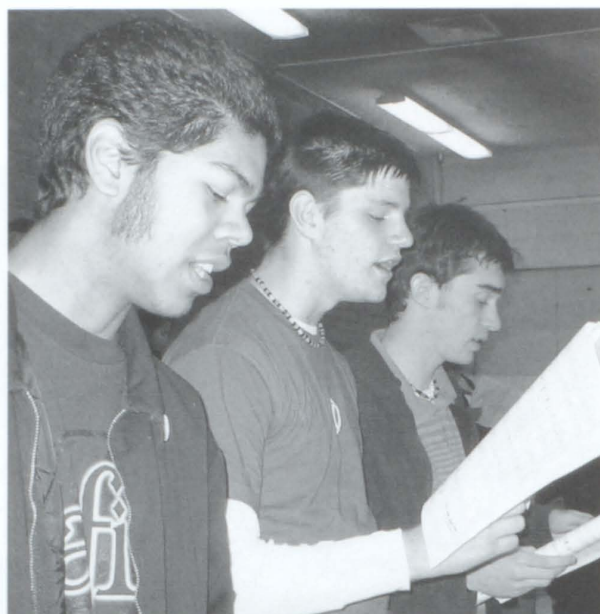

Jennifer Czerwinski (05), "It's really helped me, now that I know what the questions look like, and the level of difficulty. I am now more confident in passing the test."

Issac Bolivar (05), Joshua Small (05) and Cyril Ball (05) get down to the classic song "A Whole New World". As the only three guys in the class they showed their manly musical talents.

Being the bass isn't easy, just ask a percussionist. James Navarro (04) drums along as the class rehearses for an upcoming concert. He kept the beat going, being the guide for the class.

Christina Harrel (06) sings along with the class to one of her specialty songs. "My favorite part of being in choir are the performances that we do. I liked doing the winter concert, that was really a fun experience," Christina said.

As usual, Mr. Sterling's band played outstanding. Perhaps more so than the previous years, challenging future years to come to surpass the excellence and quality Kennedy High School's band had achieved. Not to be outdone, Kennedy High School's choir had also recieved exceptional attention from students and teachers alike. "Being in choir has taught me a lot. Such as to sing in front of people and I learned how to use my voice better also," said Danica Servin (07) who was in beginning choir. With her voice and the many others in beginning choir and chamber chorale, they made up a quite remarkable choir group. With this in mind, we are left to wonder what will the upcoming years band and choir have up their sleeves to create the big bang that will line up to our legendary 2003-2004 year of reign.

We are the DECA and Peer Advocates! Future

Two classes were dedicated to helping students in many different ways, DECA and Peer Advocate. One devoted to helping students in the future with a career choice and the other helped us with our conflicts. DECA is made to assist prospering students in the professional fields of business, accounting, and marketing. Students went to conferences to compete and debate; and also had numerous lunch activities, where they got other students involved and interested in being a part of DECA in the near future. While students were learning the roots of prospecting, there were students that were lending out a hand by listening. "Being a part of the peer program, I feel that I have chosen the right path, I now know right from wrong, and have a more positive outlook," said Gina Martinez (04). Peer Advocates helped their peers in everyday problems from the home to the school. These special students were chosen randomly, because they had shown themselves in a very promising way.

After many presentations, Claudia Delacruz (06) sits and discusses about her experiences and what she has gained. "It's honestly a wonderful experience," said Claudia.

Antoinett Oliveira (04) is sitting at the club fair, promoting and publicizing DECA with flyers and posters to get more and more students involved. "It's important for people to know about DECA, it's my job to get the word out," said Antoinett.

Mohammed Ali (04) and Krystal Wilson (05) are working very hard to get their work done before Mrs. Ketchum comes to check it. "This class is hardwork and fun together, I'm learning a lot about life and its processes," says Mohammed.

Crystal Flores (05) speaks loud and clear as she asks fellow students questions about respect. "I am learning as I am helping others," said Crystal. During this presentation, much information and help was given.

The excitement and fun began as DECA student, Elizabeth Vera (05) threw a pie at Mr. Martinez to raise money for their DECA events. "Pay - back time," said Elizabeth.

All the peer advocates gather in with their teacher, Mrs. Roberts, to discuss their day. What they have done, and how today they helped another individual. "Being a peer advocate is an amazing experience, I never thought by being so young I can help so many people. I am truly honored that I was chosen to be a part of this program," said Jahari Hicks (04).

How do you prepare mentally and physically before a game?

"I listen to my head phones and visualize what's gonna happen on the field and we practice hard all week," Ben Nicolls (04)

"Before a game I listen to music that pumps me up and I eat carbs a couple hours before," Sean Boone (04)

"You have to practice hard all week and watch films so that you know their plays and tendencies," Jason Jones (04)

"I set aside all my problems and just focus on the game and what I need to do to help us win," Marc Banks (06)

Whatever It Takes

In order to become familiar with their opponents offense, the team runs their plays over and over at practice. "We take these drills seriously so that no mistakes will be made in the game," said Amandeep Lal (04). After being in all four quarters, as many players are, it helps to be aware of their opponents' movements.

If anything foreshadowed the varsity team's season this year it was their first preseason game against Livermore where they slaughtered them with a 98 to 21 win. The games they did lose this season were close. "They sometimes thought they had an easy game but there are no easy games," Coach Webb concluded. But it wasn't just about showing up to the games every week, these varsity players attended practice Monday through Friday, from 3 o'clock to 5:30 and sometimes later. As a tradition, every Wednesday the team went to Coach Mike's for dinner or dessert to build team unity. "It's important to get together outside of football so we can get to know each other better," said Faisal Manan (04).

Coach Russell Pfister shoots some plays from the side line. He had this to say about this years team,"

"It's a good feeling having all the people watching us play."
Gabriel Lambey (06) a J.V. player

"Having all those people watch us feels good and it gives us momentum."
Rajendra Patel (07) a frosh player

"This year is better than frosh because we have more support from the school."
Shawn Megofna (06) a J.V. player

"Having them watching us gets the team ralled up and it helps us score."
Brandon Wilso(07) a frosh player

Full Back Hayden Lozano (07) takes a break from running a couple of drills during an afternoon practice. Hayden had this to say, "The drills this year were difficult but, helpful through out the season."

Offense, defense and special teams are each individual teams and when working together they become one. About offense T. Wilharm (07) said, "I've played offense twice and it was exhausting but fun, you have to put a lot of effort into it." Offense is moving the ball down the field to score a touchdown. What K. Ross (06) had to say about defense was, "It feels good to tackle the oppossing team, it takes out a lot of stress too." Defense is to block the opponent from advancing into field goal range or to score a touchdown. About special teams S. Mercado (05) said, "It's a big factor in a game, they decide the winner." Special teams kick a field goal or punt the ball. Although they had specific functions, it took all three to make a successful team.

When was the last time a 'typical' cheerleader was seen? If one was seen, it definitely was not at Kennedy High School. The spirit squad was full of people who did not identify themselves as normal cheerleaders. "I think we are the most 'uncheerleader-like' cheerleaders from this area. We are all intelligent and have lives outside of cheerleading," said Junior Varsity Kesha Hughes (06). The majority of Kennedy's cheerleaders agreed to the notion that cheerleading was not their life and that it was more of an activity that they could have fun with. "We all work very hard at practices and do our best at the games, but in the end, we all just want to have fun with it," admitted Varsity cheerleader Melissa Reyna (05). There were no intentions of saying the squad was not serious enough to have come together and create a memorable group. In fact, there was a sharp rise of improvement from past years and many could say that this was the best squad Kennedy had in years. "I am so proud whenever I see what me and my peers have helped put together in this squad. I am so proud when I look at all of the improvements we were able to make," stated Ashley Perreira (04).

"Give it up for JFK's girls' volleyball team!" shouted Coach Doug Nahale to the crowd. Doug Nahale and Coach Bernie Lee proudly announced the talented lady titans at the homecoming rally.

Despite the team's rough start, our lady titans proved that with hard work and determination, they could overcome any obstacle thrown at them. They demonstrated that with teamwork, they could still have fun playing the game and become better players. "Whether we're on or off the court, we work together no matter what," said Rachel Reyes (05). Furthermore, with a lot of the past players gone, in with the new came promising talents. After their first game, our Titans lost a few of their best players due to injuries and school, however they adjusted to the changes and they worked harder as a team. With a lot of younger players on the team and considering that most of them never played, they have impressed a lot of the returning players. Our lady Titans have come a long way since try-outs. With the season now over, our players have not only had a valuable experience, but they've created strong bonds with one another as well.

Kennedy has the smallest cross country team in Fremont.

Cross country competition distance is 2 miles for J.V. and 3 miles for Varsity.

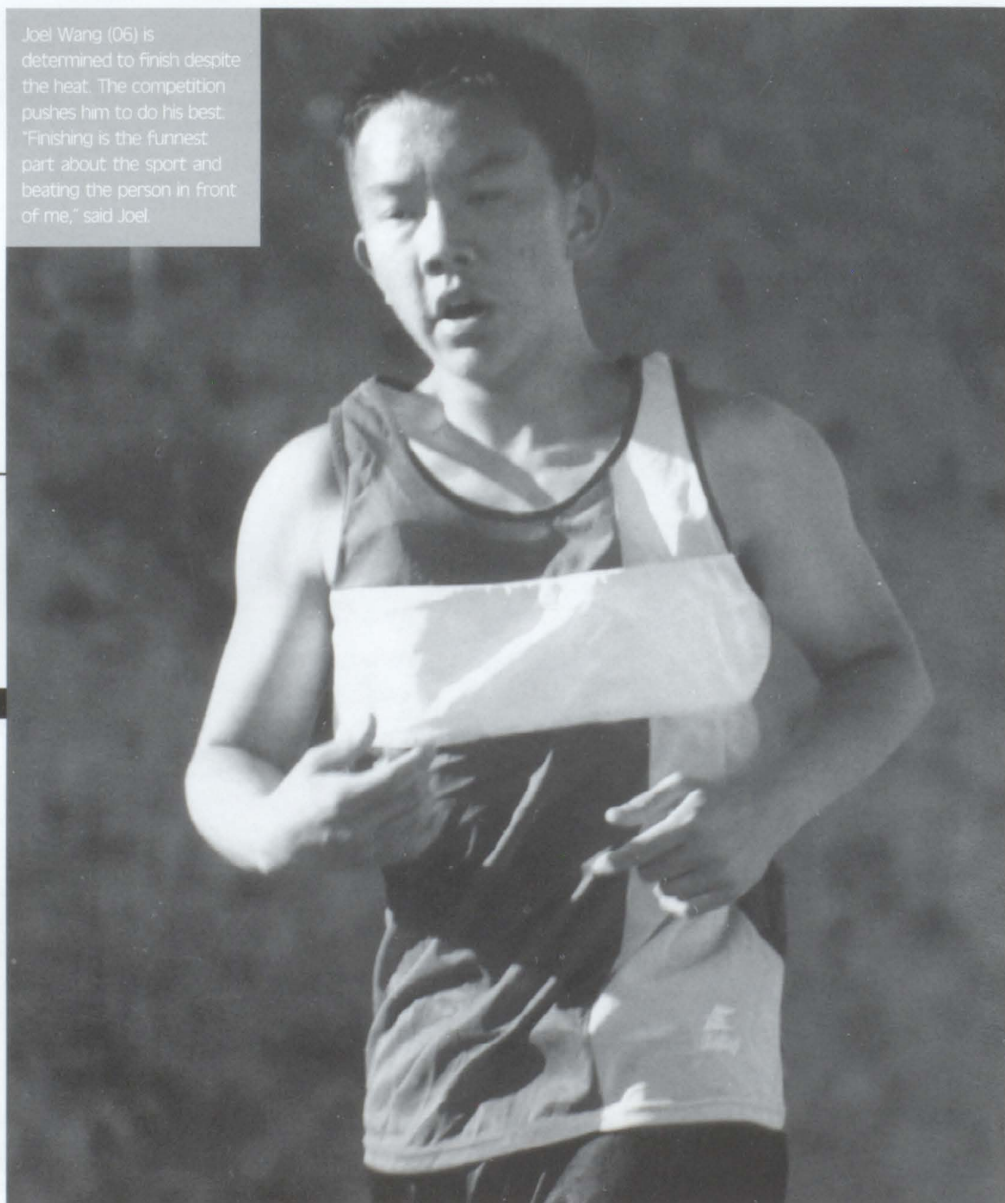

Rain or shine cross country practice still starts exactly at 3:00P.M.

Workout includes: 3-4 miles of street runs, 3-4 miles of hill work, and a 9 mile run to mission.

2. As the race is coming near, Henry Nieh (04) practices out on the track. Despite being tired, he continues running until he finishes his workout. 3. With a look of determination on his face, Brian Lee (06) runs as fast as he can and tries to catch up with his opponent. It was a hard race but he pulled through it. 4. Andrew Dennison (06) runs past his opponent giving him the lead. He maintained his pace to keep his winning position.

Joel Wang (06) is determined to finish despite the heat. The competition pushes him to do his best. "Finishing is the funnest part about the sport and beating the person in front of me," said Joel.

As Stephanie Bauhofer (06) turns the corner, she sees the finish line in sight. She runs as fast as she can and finishes the race in time to get first place.

Cross Country was one of the most intense sports here at Kennedy. There was more to cross country than running. It took a lot of self-endurance and great strength to become a good athlete. "There is a quote that I run by, it's 'In order to be the best you have to practice harder then the rest. and that is exactly what you have to do to be good and hold your own in this sport,'" said Chris Vargas (04). The sport required them to run long distances of about 8-10 miles each day in all kinds of weather and course conditions. They had to set there mind to it and be determined to win in every race. Stephanie Bauhofer (06) stated that, "Having a heart of a champion is something that a cross country runner should have."

Thinking of different strategies to get the ball toward the goal Corbin Christensen (06) tries his hardest to take control and score a point for his team. "We scrimmaged in practice and it helped me learn different moves to take the ball from the opponent," commented Corbin.

Regardless of their record, these Titan boys showed an outstanding performance. The Varsity Boys soccer team put all their energy, time, and dedication to make the year a memorable one. Throughout the season it wasn't based on victory but just having fun. Although the team had a lot of freshman they also had skills. "The younger teammates on the team were all around good players and will do better in the following years," said Carlos Flores (04). In the beginning of the season most of the players played the same position so Coach James moved them around to see if they could play better. "I use to play midfield and forward but after the Coach moved me to right fullback I started to play better," said David Ramirez (06). It was a smart move for the Coach to switch around the players. It got them use to different positions and helped the team to become stronger and learn how to work together when put in a different environment.

After those long kicking drills, Chelsea Nichols (07) finally shows off her kicking ability and demonstrates that hard work and practice really do pay off.

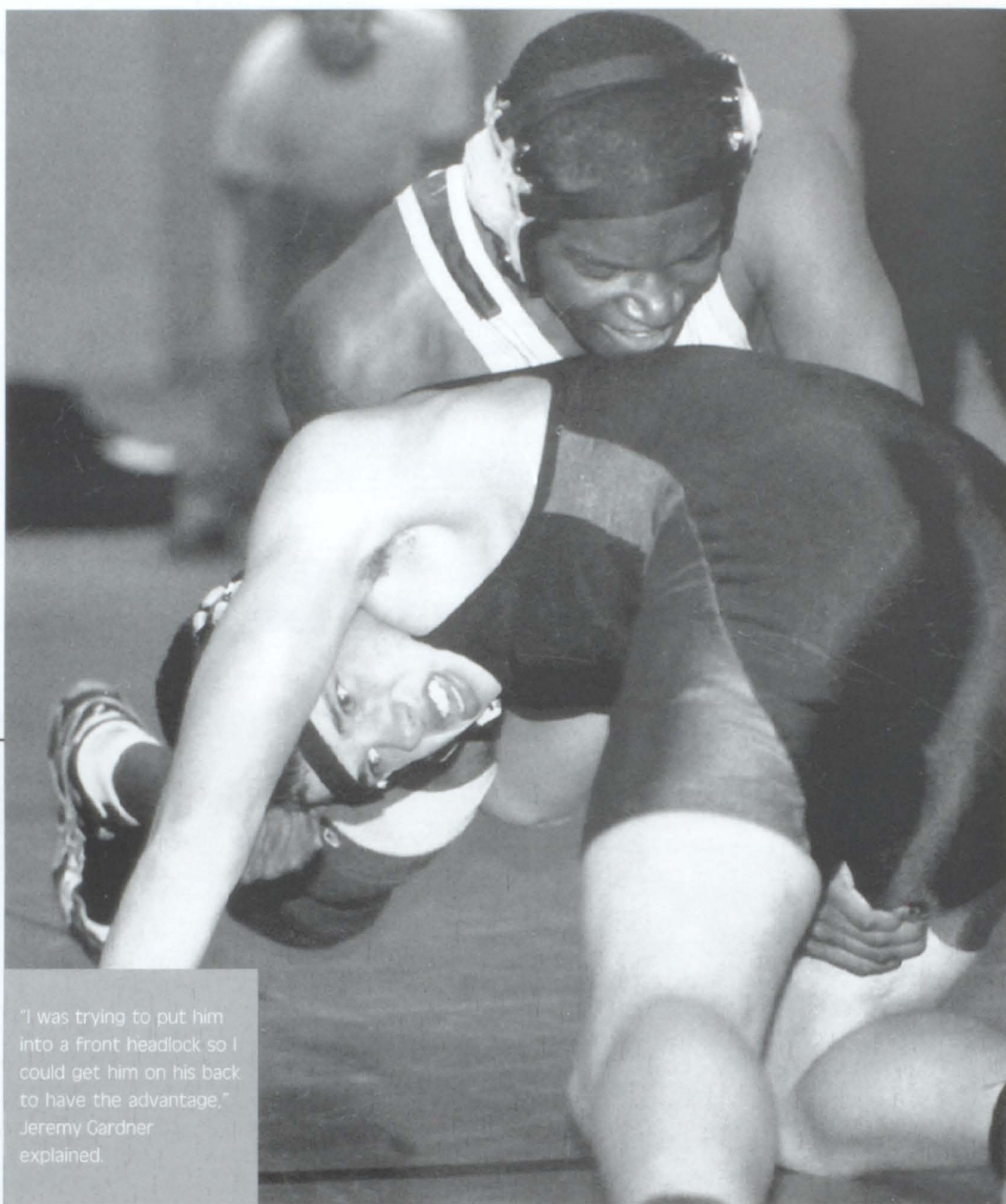

Aracely Aguirre (05) moves on the offensive as Monica Munoz (04) lets her know she's got her for back up. "I hope the effort we put in this year, will be shown next year," said Aracely.

November kicked off with another season with a new team and coach. "Milleniums behind the necessary ability it's going to take 10 years to get to where we need to be," said Coach Martinez. Many graduated last year, leaving the team with five returning seniors. "It was scary knowing we only had a few seniors," said Jennifer Hackney (07). The team was young and had to learn to work hard to meet the new coach's expectations. "We are young so we still have a lot of work, but we've improved," explained Priscilla Pulido (05). Despite that many of the players were new, they worked together to play as a team. "There is no "I" in soccer, it's a team and it requires team effort," said Harjot Sidhu (07). Despite the challenges that had to be faced as a new team, the girls managed and were able to pull through in the end.

The first reported wrestling match occurred in the Olympics in 708 B.C. Since then wrestling has been modified into a sport of rules and regulations. There are even different types of wrestling such as Greco, which tests upper body strength. A second kind of wrestling is called Free Style which is all about speed and the third is a combination of both called Folk. Folk is most commonly used among high school students. Julian Flores (07) describes folk as the funnest type of wrestling because, "You don't have to worry about stopping when you step out of bounds you can just get back in the circle and keep wrestling."

Blocking the ball from the other team Erage Noabe (05) pushes his way through. "I think as a team we shaped up to be a good team," said Erage.

On January 9, 2004 the Titans began their journey against the Mission warriors and showed that this year was headed to a great start. The boys worked hard at practices and began each game with determination, discipline, and good team work. "So far the start of this season has been good but there is still a whole season ahead," said Gregory Adams (04). The team had a lot of talent and could come together as a whole to be the best that they could be. "I can tell that we had improved compared to last year, we have a very talented and younger team," said Adam Pitre (05). Hopes were high and everyone was looking forward to a successful season.

"When Logan scored I tried to

(06). His reply? Complete determination as he hustles down the court. He just couldn't let this opportunity pass.

The words 'young' and 'inexperienced' meant nothing to our junior varsity. The junior varsity's success was vital to the future of our varsity team. Success to a junior varsity team was building team player skills. "We just need to work on our defense," John Rodriguez (05) observed. These skills are important for the players to carry on to varsity so as to improve its legacy. "This year we weren't successful but we tried our hardest," proclaimed Ancao Le (07). A fresh mind brings a refreshed spirit. For freshmen players, high school basketball was a whole new frontier. "It's a lot harder. The players are bigger," added Travis Durden (07). Discovering what kind of player one is was what freshmen basketball was all about. Winning did not mean a thing when major improvement took place. "We play good together and I'm looking forward to play next year," said Hayden Lozano (07).

Winning Matters!

Coach Thirkelle Debellotte a.k.a. "Coach D" gets eye-to-eye with some of the junior varsity girls as they listen with undivided attention while he explains their plan of attack for the next quarter.

"JFK, what time is it? It's time to get loud, it's time to represent!" yelled the Lady Titans as they prepared to defeat the other team. Hard work and a lot of intensity kept the team's confidence high. Bonding off the court helped the ladies achieve more than they had hoped for. "Those who come together, play together, and win together," explained Krystal Wilson (05). Though they had to overcome many losses, such as losing a starting player early in the season, and some serious injuries, their motto "winning matters" proved to be true when they came together as a team. Putting their problems behind them helped them to pull through for a winning season.

Da'Shawn Wilson (07) sets her eyes on the basket and gets a good grip on the ball as she goes for a layup which will bring the most intense game of the season to a tie. "Don't I look like a WNBA star?" asks Da'Shawn.

1. The ladies fight for the ball during a rigorous practice, as they perfect their offense to prepare for the following game. "We work hard in practice so we can win our games," explained Yumika Thomas (07). 2. Heather Lozano (05) catches the ball at the three point line, sees a path to the basket, then pushes her only obstacle, an opposing player, clear out of the way. "It felt good to shove someone out of the way without getting in trouble," said Heather. 3. The varsity girls pump themselves up and get ready to come through with a victory. 1. Tiffany Gaspie (06) practices her breath control at practice. "I hate breath control sets, but in the end it helps me hold my breath at meets," commented Tiffany. 2. Cassi McKean (05) and Jessica Moore (04) swim against one another during an early practice. "At practice, friendly competition helps you prepare for the real races," explained Cassi. 3. Trying to maintain a straight line as he swims Josh Allan (05) told us that he thought, "Backstroke is the hardest stroke for me to improve at since I don't really get the concept of it."

Laura Siedentopf (07) bends down on the block preparing for a practice run. "When I first dove off the block I thought I was going to belly flop," exclaimed Laura.

What do you think about when you're swimming?

"I think about how I am going to do my best and what I can do to improve the stroke next time."
Ian Huskins (04)

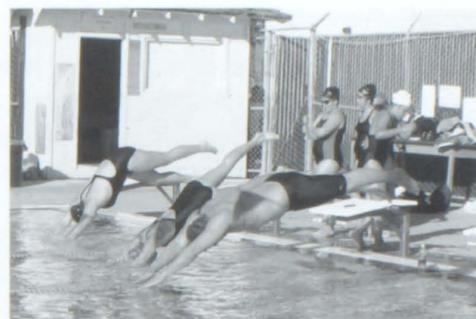

"I always think about how I am doing my strokes and I try to improve them so I can get better."
Katie Kimmel (07)

"I think about many different things I don't just focus on one specific subject."
Robert Porter (07)

"If it's a long set I sing a fast paced song in my head and swim the same speed as the song and it makes me swim faster."
Sara Grimm (05)

"Swimmers take your mark, GO!" This was the coaches way of helping the team dive better. He worked with them and constructed them after every dive to help them improve.

a splash of success

Jared Milnes (04) works on his freestyle stroke by doing the zipper drill to make him swim faster. "It's called the zipper drill because you have to use your thumb and follow it up your side like you're unzipping something," explained Jared.

Swimming to some was considered an individual sport but our swimmers proved that it was a team sport. The day before meets they loaded up on carb's by eating pasta, bread and salad. "We have a great time grubin' and talking especially when we expect to win the next day," commented Jessica Moore (04). The pasta feeds brought the team closer together and helped prepare them. The team swam about 3 miles per practice. These 3 miles consisted of practicing the certain techniques and improving them so that they could get better. Each swimmer had their own preferred stroke, whether it was Butterfly, Backstroke, Breaststroke, or Freestyle. "My favorite stroke is freestyle because it's the easiest one and doesn't take a lot of work," stated Felisha Ontiveros (07). No matter what happened the swimmers had the support of the team and were always cheered on when they swam.

Glide! Glide! Glide! That is what Deanna Liggett (05) heard as she races to be the first one to the wall. "Breast Stroke is my favorite stroke because I get to breathe after every stroke and it's fun," commented Deanna.

Coach Eckstein demonstrates the correct stance to be in while swinging his golf club for a clean stroke.

"I love golf with a passion. It gives me a sense of patience and patience my friend, is a virtue," Claude Quebec (06).

Facts

An ace is when a golfer hits a hole in one (getting the ball in on the first shot)

A par is the number of shots it should take for a golfer to make the ball in the hole

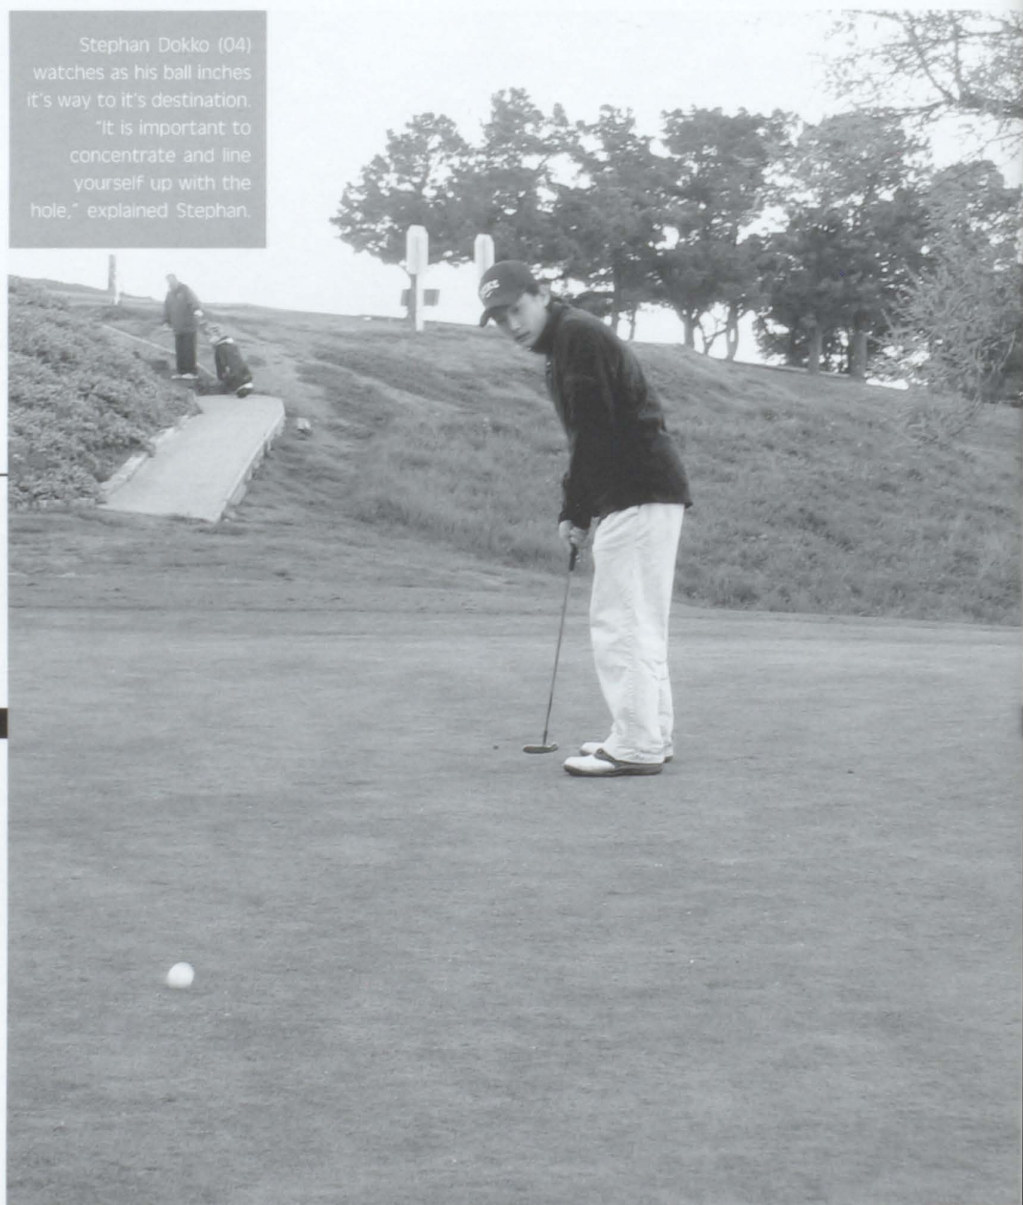

A bogey is when a player goes only one over par for the hole

A pivot is the rotation of the body during a swing

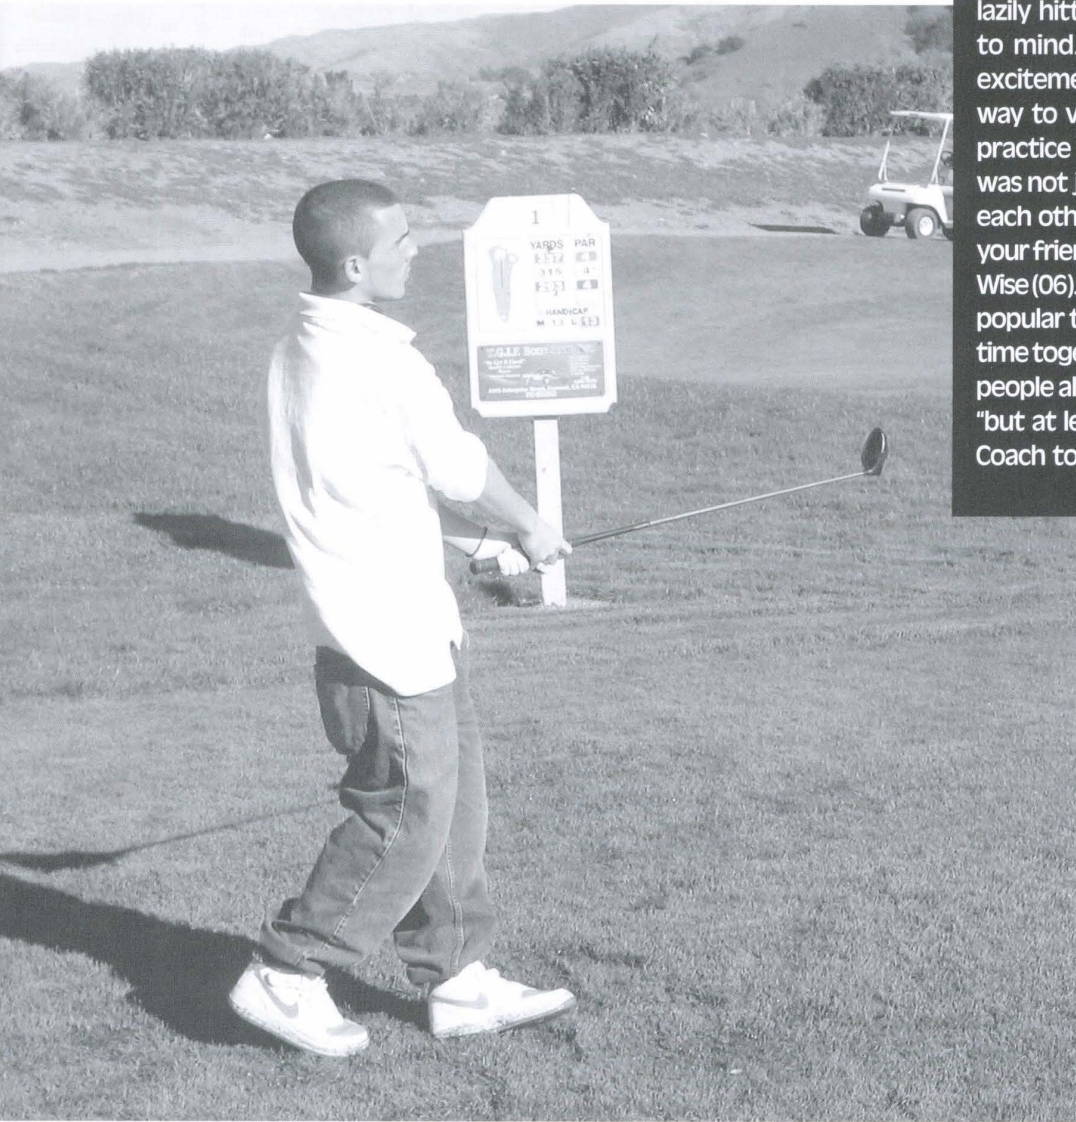

1. Mike Armas (06) concentrates on his swing and tells himself, "I am the next Tiger Woods." 2. William relaxes his shoulders and makes sure his club is aligned properly with the ball. "Golf is the only sport I've played where I can relax and have fun at the same time," expressed William Cowie (06). 3. "To get the ball in the hole you must stroke it precisely and with much expertise," explained Tyler Hogan (06).

Stephan Dokko (04) watches as his ball inches it's way to it's destination. "It is important to concentrate and line yourself up with the hole," explained Stephan.

"I have a lot of fun golfing and Coach Eckstein has really helped me improve my swing," Matt Armas (06). Matt follows through with his swing and watches to see where the ball lands.

When you thought of golf, a picture of senior citizens driving golf carts around a grassy field, lazily hitting a ball with a club, may have come to mind. Kennedy's golf team added a little excitement to the game as they swung their way to victory. The team met once a week to practice at a golf course in Sunol. However, it was not just practice, it was a way to bond with each other. "Playing golf is fun but playing with your friends makes it more enjoyable," said Jason Wise (06). Although the golf team wasn't the most popular team to be on, the guys still had a great time together. "We get negative comments from people all the time," explains Thomas Cowie (04), "but at least we're not getting yelled at by our Coach to do laps!"

Tyler Hogan (06) looks into the distance of their practice course in Sunol. "It's a beautiful place and I love being able to come here to practice with the guys," expressed Tyler.

What is the most important part of your swing?

"I think getting the club head squared through impact is very important."
Thomas Cowie (04)

"Definitely the follow through, without that, my ball could go anywhere!"
Ian MacDonald (06)

"Plain and simple...driving the ball as far as I can."
Jason Wise (06)

"The set-up because it helps you aim correctly."
Victor Simionas (07)

Mike Armas (06) recalls the correct stance for hitting the golfball andlocks his arms to ensure a powerful swing.

experience success community individuality

As most of you know, John F. Kennedy is a place full of spirit and diversity. Our school is home to people from all over the world. Furthermore, we are all unique and individual. However, there are two things that unify us: the strength of the Mighty Titans, and the power of the Purple and Gold. These things bring us together and make us proud to be who we are as individuals, and as one. "I'm different than everyone else because although you can't see them, I have huge muscles!" believes Daniel Miranda (04). Also, Robert Lira (06) said, "Even though we are all individual, we all bond to make a whole." In addition, Mrs. Santillan explained, "People try to be individual because they're trying to find a way to stand out and be remembered." When asked what makes him individual, Dylan Embrich (04) laughed and replied, "I'm going to be different and not answer the question."

Most Dedicated Coach Mike

"He shows up to class every day, and he's always there to help us." -Bilal Miskeenyar (05)

"Kennedy High School is the best school in the United States of America. We've got the best and most honest kids," explained Coach Mike.

Most Outgoing Mr. Church

"He uses slang to try to fit in with us, and he doesn't care what he sounds like. It's great." - Taniesha Ball (04)

"When I'm not teaching, I like to play tennis. I'm also a grad student, and one day I plan to write a book!" exclaimed Mr. Scott Church.

Easiest To Relate To Mrs. Waller

"I had Ms. Waller for Freshman English. She is so outgoing and so easy to talk to." - Raymond Peng (04)

"I try to think like students and put myself in their situation, to see where they're coming from," Mrs. Corrinne Waller relates.

Most Organized Ms. Rangel

"She freaks out if anyone touches her walls or if the desks aren't straight. It's entertaining." - Andrea Hoencke (04)

"My house is exactly like my classroom. I can't live in disorganization. Everything must be Perfect," admitted Mrs. LaDonna Rangel.

Mr. Al McCaughey almost lit his house on fire? While trying to create a battle scene with his toy army men. He covered them with glue and lit a match! Luckily his mom caught him in the act.

Coach Webb holds the record for suspensions at his high school? Mr. Webb was suspended for many crazy things at his Catholic high school, such as hanging out the window of a 3rd story building!

Mrs. Margie Thomas broke her leg when she was younger? In 4th grade, she managed to trip over her dog, and fall to the ground. She ended up breaking her leg in two places! OUCH!

Mrs. Olivia Santillan's foot was run over by a car in high school? She was talking to a group of friends, when a girl she knew ran over her foot! Nothing was broken, but she had tire tracks on her foot for a week!

Best

Mr. Yee

"He'll interrupt class to tell a funny joke, and he's always trying to make us laugh." - Abdul Abdali (05)

"When students ask to hear my best joke, I just tell them to look at their test scores," Mr. Henry Yee kidded.

Most Talkative
Mr. Martinez

"Once, he started to talk about cameras. By the end of the lecture he was talking about girls!" - Ben Nicolls (04)

"I love showing the students the videos that they make in class, because they enjoy it so much," Mr. Jeff Martinez.

Friendliest
Ms. Calvert

"Ms. Calvert is always nice and helpful to every student. She never gets mad." - Sabbir Sattar (04)

"When I get mad, I usually stop talking, and give the class 'the look,' but I really hate to yell," explains Mrs. Brenda Calvert.

Summer Bummer

"I had to get up at 2:00 in the morning every morning!" Mr. Joel Townsend complains. In high school, he would ride his moped, while delivering newspapers for his paper route.

Mr. Guy Jine had an awful time dealing with customers. "I worked in the parking lot at the fair," he explains, "and I was always getting yelled at because the parking lot was full."

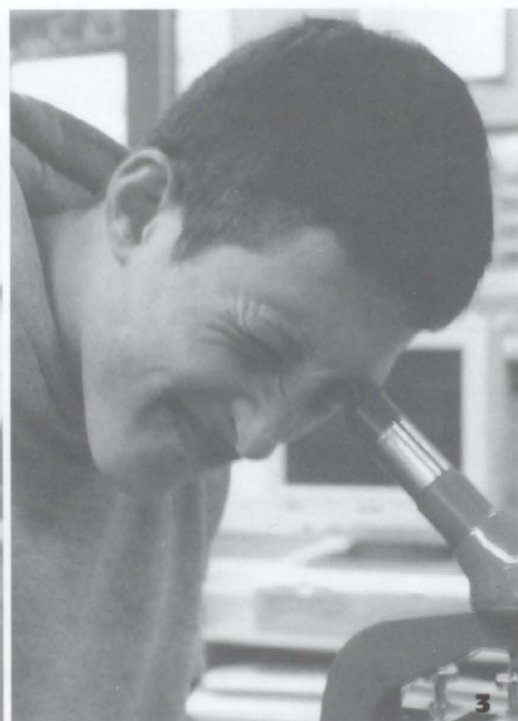

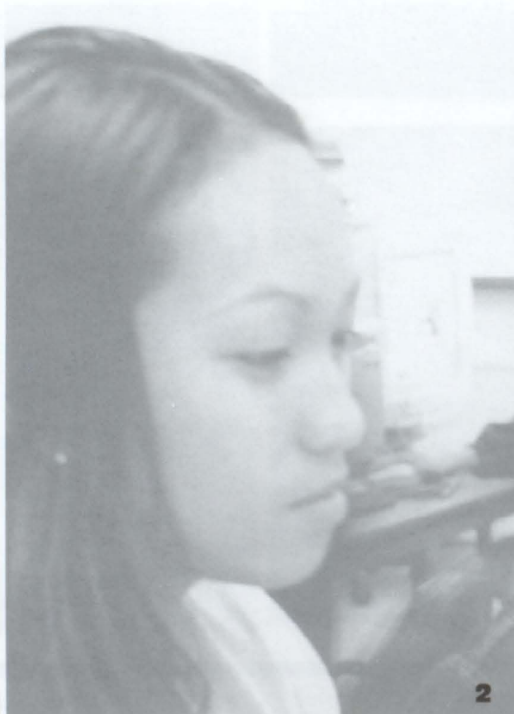

Ms. Sharon Kinkler had to wear a short skirt as part of her uniform at the gas station she used to work at. "I had to bend over and do tune-ups in it," she remembers, "it was the worst."

Mr. Hap Engle had an interesting experience when he worked on a honey farm. He was paid $6.25 an hour to extract honey from honeycombs. "It was horrible. Everyday I would get bee stings all over my hands."

Freshmen year was when we had new beginnings, exciting events, tested all water, and determined our endings. 1. Monica Valdeze had explained, "I want to be remembered by the famous quote, 'Don't judge a book by its cover.'" 2. During a freshmen required computer operations class, Jill Julag-ay stated, "I look forward to learning more about computers to help me later in life." 3. While studying extremely hard, Nick Harlan learned incredible facts about bacteria and their cells by examining through a microscope. "I wasn't exactly looking forward to seeing all the cells, but I do look forward to seeing all the touchdowns this season!" 4. Also in science, Anthony McDowell and Amelia Martinez were partnered up while they worked extra hard before making their discovery. Amelia Martinez explained after, "Hey it's getting the credits we need to graduate." 5. Finally the class of 2007 was thrilled to have come together at the homecoming rally to represent themselves as a whole. 6. Josh Blamca was concentrating very hard to figure out Adobe in the beginning of first semester computer operations. "Doing good and not flunking are my main priorities." However, taking computer operations helped many students learn various amounts of programs. 7. Josh Lewis watched in fascination as the little man danced on his computer screen. "I can't wait to play basketball. If only the little man could've made a slam dunk too," agreed Josh. 8. Miguel Vargas and some of his friends were caught walking while they were out of their third period class goofing off. Miguel had claimed that, "Someone you can always laugh with is who I am." Obviously Miguel's statement was proven true after his fellow classmates agreed. Furthermore, not only did these freshman look forward to their upcoming high school careers and enchanting events, they had a lot in stored as they moved FORWARD!

Do you get enough sleep every night? 5. "There is way too much homework, I only get like two hours of sleep per night." Exclaimed, Sue Bigley (07). 6. On the other hand, Andrew Parker (07) stated, "I get five to six hours of sleep a day." 7. Jason Hammons(07) said however, " I get about seven hours a sleep every night."

8. Becca Cole (07) also replied, "I sleep seven hours every night because I have soccer and I have to do all my homework." Some kids get a lot of sleep while some only get a few 'Zzz' a night from all of the work, homework and after school activities there is never enough time in the day.

Fact or Fiction?

Fact:

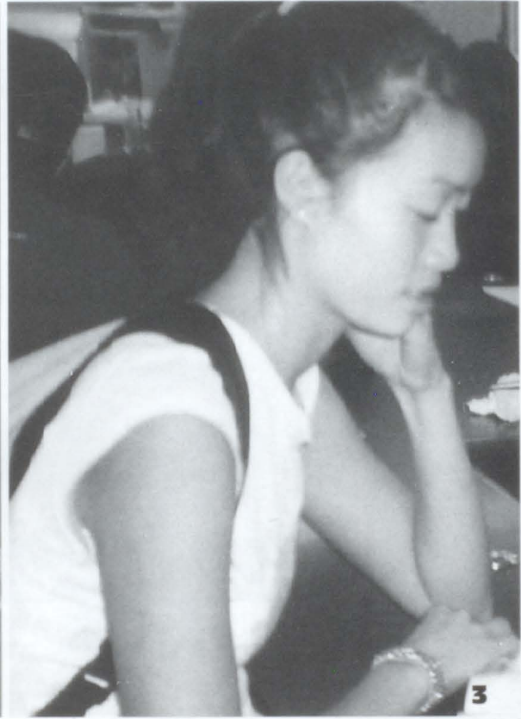

1. They're overwhelmed by how much school work there is.
2. They all rush to class.

Fiction:

1. They think they're gonna get beat up or picked on in High School.
2. They don't miss middle school.

Sophomores Get Their Kicks, In '06!

2006

1. "Be careful not to burn yourself," said Megan Newman (06), while carefully lifting cookies off the cookie pan in her third period foods class. "I loved making spirit cookies!" said Melanie Greenfeild (06), "It shows our spirit." 2. Friends help friends get through the good times and the frustrating times. Especially homework. Holly Kildebeck (06) is found helping out her good friend Falisha Vining (06) with her homework after school. "I love having my friends there to help me with my homework," said Falisha. 3. Nevertheless, Samantha Chu (06) explains as she is reading her chemistry book in her third period, "it is lovely in chemistry, but everyone in the class is basically Juniors so there are very little sophomores, but the long study hours end up being very sufficient," she added. 4. In the meantime, Hadia Salak (06) is found in the library at lunch. Instead of eating and hanging out with her friends, she likes to sit down and read a good book. "Knowledge is the key to success," replies Hadia. 5. "06!" Shouts the sophomore class at the spirit rally in the gym on October, 10. The bleachers rumbled as they stomped their feet and clapped their hands to support their class. "We were the loudest out of all the classes because we wanted everyone to know who we were, class of 2006!" exclaimed Elizabeth Sime (06). But we want to know, what does being a sophomore really mean to the class? Can you tell us? 6. "Being a sophomore means power to me!" exclaimed Stephanie Bauhofer (06). "We have more than we did when we were freshman." 7. "A sophomore means that we have only two more years of our high school career," states Kesha Hughes (06) along with friend Jamik Harris. 8. "We are not the youngest students in the school anymore and for that we don't get treated like freshman," said Jeremy Jack (06) at lunch. "Since we are older we have more wisdom about the school." Next to having power and wisdom, everyone knew what being a sophomore means. They were the class of 2006!

It's Not You...It's Me

How would you break up with your girlfriend or boyfriend?

"I would tell him to his face, internet, or on the phone. I don't think it would be right to have someone else do it for you," said Dianel Svarez (06).

"I would do all the stuff that he hates and I would tell him that the relationship is not working out," said Esther Lee (06).

"I would say that it's not working or I don't like you," stated Simir Bath (06).

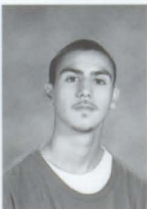

"Just tell him the truth, because there's no use with playing games and leading them on. Just flat out say you don't like him, but just talk it over and tell him that he'd be better off with someone else," said Kharren Co (06).

Stress Issues

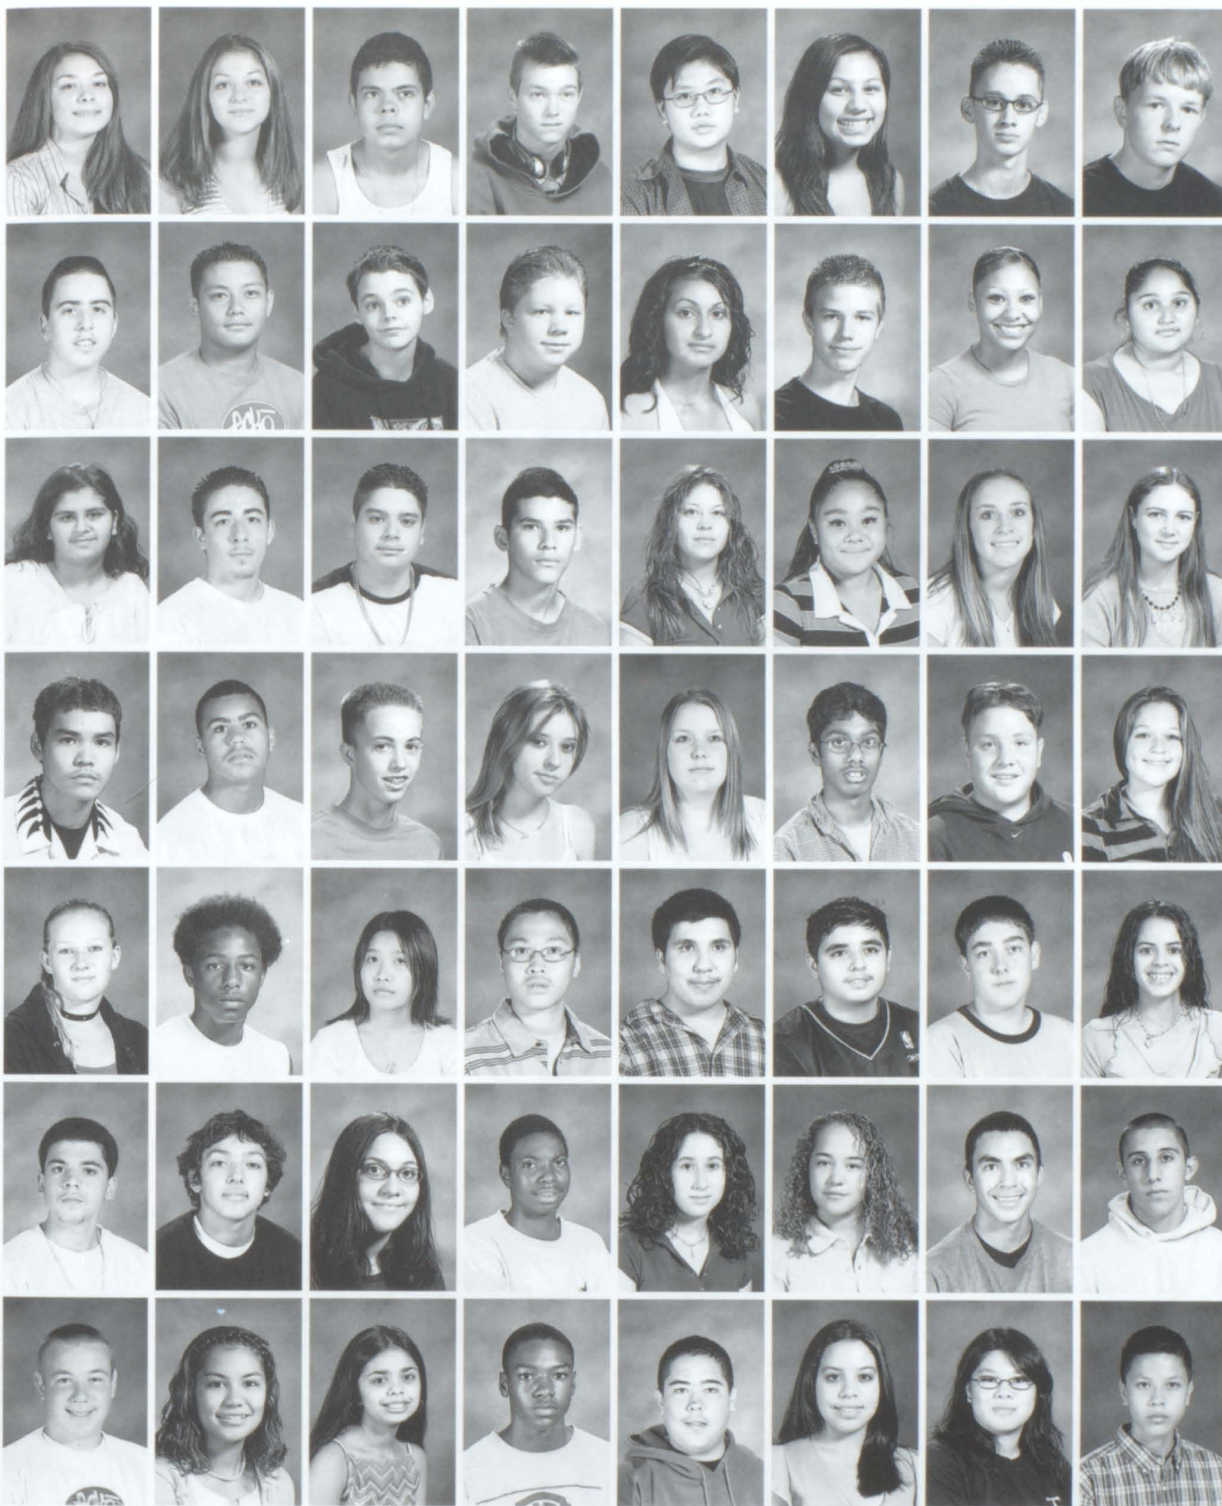

Did you know that stress is the number one problem in high school among students? Each student deals with stress at least once a week. From homework to extra curricular activities to friendship problems, we've all suffered from stress. Roxanne Rogers (06) deals with stress by turning to her friends. "I talk to my friends all the time about my stress. They help me forget about what's bugging me and they're always there for me," said Roxanne. Gabriel Lambey (06) finds another way to stay clear of stress, "I listen to music. It helps make everything clear. It also helps to calm me down," said Gabriel. David Silva (06) said, "When I'm stressed I sing in the shower and if that doesn't help I go out for a ride in my motorcycle." For others, playing a sport relaxes them. "I play soccer, baseball and basketball to keep my mind occupied," said Rafael Jovel (06). Armando Teixeira (06) said that football is a good stress reliever. "Anytime I feel tensed I just go outside and play football with my friends and have a good time."

How do sophomores deal with stress?

Juniors Thrive... Moving Towards '05!

2005

1. Juniors unite making it through their toughest year! As Amber Bown (05) sits in class she said, "I feel that people look up to me in many positive ways, and that being a Junior makes me a role model and leader for the youngins." 2. On the other hand, Alexis Lindsey (05) thinks, "Being a Junior is good 'cause it's time to straighten up and do well in school, also because I have only one more year 'till graduation...Holla!" 3. During lunch, Salwa Sweilem (05) thought, "Junior year was pretty rad...It's a lot of work and stuff, but it's cool. My Senior year is gonna be radical...yeah buddy!" 4. While Daniel Terrazes (05) and Cynthia Blest (05) say whassup during brunch, he said, "This year was our hardest so we had to get our work done to become seniors." Cynthia Blest simply thought, "Junior year was fun...besides all the haters!" 5. Furthermore, as Bhavna Bala (05) watches the rally she's, "excited about becoming a senior because it's my last year and I have to make it my best year ever, and spend more time with my friends." 6. However, "I think since I'm one year closer to being a senior it's more stressful because you have to do well in every class and get your credits to graduate," said Cristal Flores (05) during lunch. 7. As Amanda Lopez sits on the campus bench she feels, "There's not really a difference in our junior class, it's the same every year." 8. During lunch, Adam Pitre (05) had a specific wish for his senior year, "I look forward to driving to school next year!" All in all, each student thought Junior year was fun, and was excited about becoming a senior of 2005!

The Stress of Junior Year...

Is Junior year really as tough as it is said to be?

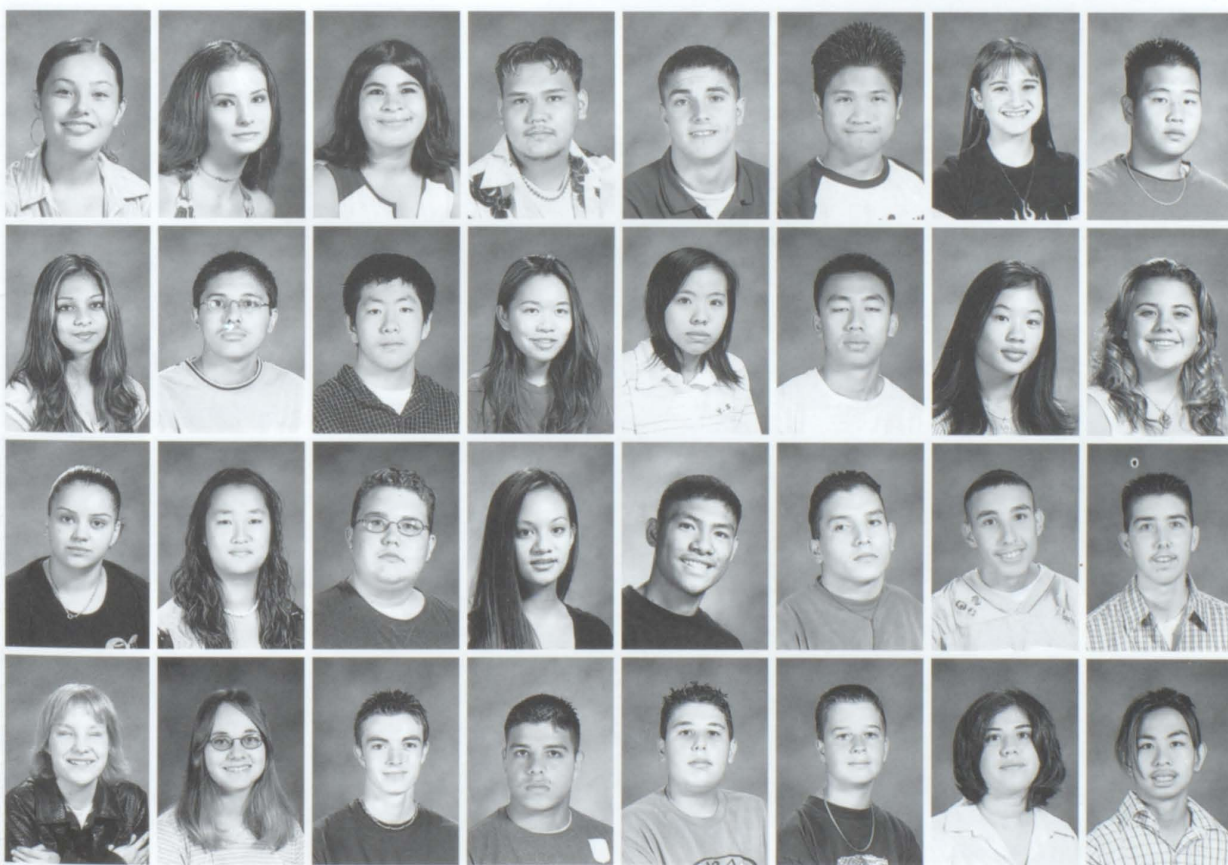

"No, it's not hard. Well, at least not to me. I have all my easy classes this year and I don't have any homework, so I don't really do anything," explained Emmanuel Alvarado (05)

"I've been taking it easy, doing homework with friends. I just try working hard, paying attention in class, so I've been coping," said Natalia Mijangos (05)

"Not really. It's actually sort of easy. However, there is pressure. Colleges are looking at this year, so you're pressured to do well," commented Jose Haro (05)

"No, it's really easy. Many people say it's really hard, but it actually isn't. You find out when you get to junior year, and if you have good grades, it's not bad," answered Shelia Coleman (05)

What do you do on the weekends?

Friday night was the start to a new weekend for everyone. All of us preferred different past times, but we all enjoyed the idea of not being on the school's schedule and having the choice what we wanted to do with our day ahead. Cyril Ball enjoys staying home because there never really is nothing to do in Fremont. Nigyar Akhverdiyeva likes to spend her time staying home and hangout with friends. Adolfo Ureno enjoys going to parties when there are any. Rose Porth likes to go shopping at the mall with her friends. Krystina Ferriera likes seeing the latest flicks at the movies with her boyfriend. One thing is for sure though we all enjoy the fact that we get to sleep in and enjoy the two day weekend break.

2.) "Work hard, pass all of your classes the first time and don't be so serious! Randomness and humor are awesome and it helps to relieve stress." revealed Sara Grimm (05)
3.) "You have to believe in what you are working for, and put your heart into it. Also believe in yourself." commented Cassie McKean (05)
4.) Work hard and have confidence, don't put too much pressure on yourself either. Have fun, you just have to believe in success." Amrita Prasad (05)
5.) "Find love. Love is all important in succeeding in finding happiness...more important than anything... and how!" admitted Josh Small (05)

Seniors: Mission Complete '04!

"I enjoyed being a senior because of all the privileges that we get."

-Elizabeth Flores

"Senior year was a walk in the park except for Government and English. After that, all I can say is 'mission accomplished!'."

-Ricardo Gamboa

"To be honest the only thing that got me through the year was knowing that it was my last one."

-Emily Dupree

Senior Thoughts

1. "I have enjoyed senior year because of how kicked back it was for me."

- Richard Borges

2. "It was a really cute year and I am glad it's over." -Danielle Mitchell.

3. "I had a good year and look forward to continuing my education further."

-Paul Nobel

4. "What I've liked most about my senior year is not having to go to first period."

-Natalie Arroyo

5. "I just tried to have the most fun this year considering it's my last." -Bryan Ricketts.

The yearbook staff

What an exciting year. As I sat reflecting on the year's event. I heard Chrissie Buedi. She is sitting in the front of the room and is loud enough for all to hear. Clai and Stacy are busy finishing a proof that needed to be done yesterday. Liz is busy with the index that takes an amazing amount of patience. Andrea Hoencke would be lounging in the "green chair", except she is absent today. Tomorrow the cover is due for the end project. I can't believe how quiet it is. It reminds me of when a big deadline was coming up but there was definitely less tension. How nice to be done. Each student gave a different flavor to the class. It definitely shows in the yearbook. All of you have worked hard and it shows. I am proud to have had each one of you in class. I know at times, I can be difficult, but I hope you have learned from this experience and grow from it. This yearbook staff had personality plus! Good Luck and Keep work'n!
Mrs. Dee Clark :)

Adriana Vera and Natalie Arroyo pick pictures that were desperately needed. Adriana has been with me for two year. Thanks for always being a great help.

Liz Garcia took charge of all the senior ads and quotes. What a job. I'm glad it was hers' and not me!

Andrea Hoencke worked so hard, she had to take a nap. She had frequent trips to the green chair.

Emily Dupree and Chrissy Buedi work on the wrestling spread. Are they having fun yet? I didn't ask?

Stacey Choy diligently works on the mug area. Stacey is a definite a keeper. Ready for next year?!

What is say, what to say! Christina Quesada works on her copy or is she searching the internet?!

Amber McGee is so excited about her spread, she can't contain her excitement.

Lori Christoph is caught by my camera. She is probably laughing at one of my crazy assignments. They asr so much fun!

Heleina Jimenez, Tara Pascale, Amber Miskella, Danielle Roney worked so hard on their deadline their tummies were so hungry they need food. A common past time in yearbook.

For You Prinsesita Natalie,

The day you were born, we held you in our arms and we felt we couldn't love anyone more. We are so proud of you pequena. You are a beautiful young girl, you've grown up so fast, "de nina a mujer" We are so very proud of your accomplishments and always remember you can make your dreams come true, with persistence and hard work believe in yourself and don't forget Mami and Papi will always be here for you! God bless you now and forever.

Amber,

I am so glad that I didn't have to go through all the ups & downs of high school alone. Having not only a friend to turn to, but family. I am fortunate to have a cousin like you. It's been a long journey since freshmen year. And we've both grown as individuals. I know that there will be many more trials to come outside of high school. And I also know that we will over come whatever comes our way. I Love you Girl!

Love, Crystal Cheveres

Crystal,
Hey there baby cakes! Well has it not been a long beautiful journey? I am so very glad that I got to spend each and every moment with you. Crystal you are a part of me. We've been through so much together. I have had so many laughs. That it would be unbearable to think of a day when you weren't there. I Love you CeCe. I am so honored to have you as a cousin & Best friend.

Dearest Daughter,
We had a goal this year. It was to get to graduation. Remember? Focus, tunnel vision everything we do now, needs to get us closer to graduation. Well you did it Danielle! And you know you had me scared there for a minute. But then you always were a little daring and taking risks. So continue, Danielle, dare to succeed, take the chances that will get you to your goals and to the person you want to be. I have full faith in you now, I am sure you are going to have all dreams. Congratulations Danielle, I love you, Mom.

Well Jay you made it. It's been a rough road but we survived. I want you to know that I'm very proud of you and I love you very much. You have turned into a wonderful, strong, caring, independent young man and I'm proud to say you're my son. Keep up the good work I know that you can do anything your heart desires. Jason I also want to thank you for being so strong in this last year, I don't think I could have made it without your love and strength. You have pulled me through some tough times and have stepped up to the plate whenever it was needed; you have truly become the man of the house. I know its been very hard on you, harder than I could ever imagine, please know that I will always be here for you as you've been there for me and I will do anything in my power for you. I love you more than words can express, and pray that God keeps you safe, happy, and healthy on whatever path you choose to follow. Jason I know that your father is smiling down at you this very moment and is very proud of the man you're becoming. He's always proud of you and your accomplishments but I know this day means a lot it's the beginning of your life as a man. I'm sorry that your dad and Nana, two of the most important, special, people in your life couldn't be here on your big day, but I know they are watching from above and are very proud. I know they both played a very special roll in your life and have taught you some valuable lessons and special things that make you who you are, so never forget they are always with you.

God Bless. Love, Mom

Bird,

The family and I are so proud of you. The ones here physically and the ones we can't always see but they can see everything we do. I'm surprised it isn't raining, as I know Nana is crying a river of happiness. You'll always be "HER Special Baby Boy." Yes, this is it! But before it's over please let Auntie tell you a little secret and that is, this is just the beginning! Just one of the many paths that you will walk down in your life.

I wish for you nothing but the best. May your journey you're about to begin bring you good health; tons of happiness and much love all the way through. Please take time to stop and look all around on each and every path you travel. Never too fast, never too slow. Now is the time for you, the Cub to carry on. Never ever forget the King of the Beast is right beside you. He's standing with his chest out as far as he possibly can; his arms are wrapped around you. As he ever so proudly watches over you. Not just today but everyday. He's with you. He'll be with you everywhere you go in life, never forget that! Thank you for being there for Mom and watching over my Little Sister for me. You know Bird, Auntie knows Mom and Dad did really good! May all your dreams of happiness and love come true. If you ever need us, you know what to do. Wherever life takes you always remember where you came from and know how very much you are loved, go on, get out there and do it!

Love you, God Bless,

Love, Auntie

Emily, you are our special princess. We are so proud of you. It only seems like a few years ago we were changing diapers and you were taking naps. Now you're graduating from high school (but still taking naps). Watching you grow up has made our lives complete. You have worked so hard to accomplish your goals and maintain your great grades. Thank you for studying so hard. We know that it didn't come without sacrifices. Life is full of many choices and you were always responsible and self directed enough to make the right ones. You'll accomplish anything you put your mind to and get the job done. We admire your commitment.

No matter what you pursue in life we will always be able to hold our heads up high. Success awaits you. Never stop dreaming cause dreams do come true.

We love you bigger than the world

December 18, 1985 a very special day, when I met my newborn, precious little pixie, Emily M. Dupree, my granddaughter. As the years flew by and she has grown from this little baby to a young woman ready to graduate from high school and start a new journey in life. I have never felt more pride and love for my sweet granddaughter than right now Emily. Love you honey, Grandma Jeannine

Angel No 2.- From up close and afar I have watched you grow and learn but never could I have imagined what an amazing person you would become. We have been together for birthday parties, soccer, new boyfriends, car accidents, and now college; I will always be here to support you on all that you decide to concur. May this be the worst day of the rest of your life!
I love you and congratulations!!
Angel No 2.

2 My angels,
God Knew I wasn't perfect, so he sent two angels to complete me. Without you both where would I be? Thanks for all the laughter and fun, the shoulder to cry on, the ear that listens, and the heart that loved and cared no matter what. Every precious memory will always remain with me along with all the things you've both taught me. You both have been such a blessing in my life, now I'm crying but what else is new. I love you both and thanks for everything. Remember believe, dream, love, and hope always.

To my Best Friends, Wow, I can't believe the day has finally come. I remember freshman year, coming to a new school, not knowing anyone. But Thank god I did. Because I gained the most precious friends that anyone could ask for. Thank you for being there for me when things were tough. Thank you for all the laughs, tears, advice, memories, support and love, and friendship. Without you two, high school wouldn't have been the same. Don't cry, it's not the end, it's only the beginning! It's our turn now! I love you more than you know.

Love, Raihanna

To My Girls, Both of you are Truly sent from heaven. I thank god everyday for having both of you in my life. All of our memories are one in a million. We have all been through a lot of sadness, joyfulness, and most of all happiness. I know one day that both of you will achieve anything you set your mind on. Everything we have been through I'll take along in life, but most important I'll take the two precious gifts god has sent me. My two Lil angels, thank you both for all the wonderful memories you have given me. I ♥ U Both out of our lives,

but only true
friends will leave footprints in our hearts."
Love, Valerie
Dominguez

A friend is one who knows you, but loves you anyway! Remember, the greatest gift is not found in a store nor under a tree, but in the hearts of true friends!

Who finds a beautiful friend, finds a beautiful treasure! Not just friends but more like sisters!

Truth and tears clear the way to a deep and lasting friendship!

"Friends are angels who lift us to our feet, when our wings have trouble remembering how to fly!"

I believe in angels, the kind Heaven sends. I am surrounded by angels, but I call them my best friends...

"My friends are like stars, even though I don't always see them,
I know they'll always be there."

Love, Monique Empinado

Girls,

experience success individuality community

Kennedy doesn't have to be asked twice when it comes to reaching out to the community and without the community helping Kennedy, we wouldn't be where we are today. Together with the community we are dedicated to helping people in need. KCK (Kids Cheering Kids) met every Wednesday from 7pm to 8pm. The 10-person group meets at the Tri-City Homeless Shelter to play with the children there. "It's fun because I enjoy playing with the kids and seeing the smiles on their faces," said KCK member Aaron Zaragoza (04). Interact held many fundraisers including Trick or Treat for Cans, which was a canned food drive for the homeless, and Project Bear Hug. This project raised money for stuffed animals to send to children in third world countries. Elizabeth Kresin (04) explains, "It's a good feeling to help those in need." Kennedy also receives help from the community. Target, Office Depot, and Safeway are just a few of the stores that donate funds to our school through Escript. The two main fundraisers that contribute to Kennedy are the Flea markets every month and the Carnival we hold every year in May. "It's great to see the community support the schools!" exclaimed former PTA President Rose Vargas.

Princess Properties & Associates and discuss the options for your home today!

(866) 779-7237

In Foreclosure?

Do you know your options?

Three Ways to STOP a Foreclosure!

1. Cure the Loan Default

- Pay the lender what they are owed!
- Call your lender directly and request a forbearance payment plan.
- Borrow the money from a relative or friend to bring the loan current.

2. Sell Your Home

You have 111 days from the first filing of the Notice of Default (NOD) before your home can be sold at public auction. This option takes time.

3. YOUR LAST RESORT, File Bankruptcy

This is a temporary solution and may or may not save your home from foreclosure sale. Contact a bankruptcy attorney for advice.

Explore Your Options

Option 1 is your Best Option

Keep Your Home If You Can

Princess Properties has programs that allow you to stay in your home!

* Once Lender Starts the Foreclosure Clock ...
 YOU Have 111 Days To STOP The Bank!

Time is of the Essence

Three Stages of Foreclosure

RED ZONE
 90 Days NOD Stage
 21 Days NTS Stage
 EVICTION

What stage are you in?
 The Clock Is Ticking ...

Option 2 is a Fair Option

Sell Your Home For Quick Cash

If your foreclosure is in the RED ZONE you have less than 21 days to reinstate your loan and save your home from the scheduled foreclosure sale date.

A quick cash sale is better than a total loss! Everyone wins! The lender, the owner and buyer all get paid for their financial risks taken.

Sell to Princess Properties at a Fair Price! We save you from foreclosure and pay you a fair price for your equity.

Option 3 is the Worst Option

Foreclosure Trustee Sale

Final Options Available at this Stage:

1. Do Nothing

Let your home sell at trustee sale and get nothing for your equity.

2. Anyone can buy at Trustee Sale!

You get nothing for your equity. Don't lose all your equity and your home too! Make the right decision before it is too late.

Congratulations

Class of 2004!

"Wherever you may be, it is your friends who make your world." Of all the times that we've shared and all the obstacles that we've overcome, this is the most difficult one: leaving each other. Let us never forget the times when we laughed and cried together. Remember that anything is possible, just believe in yourself. Liz, Mal, Willa, and Meha: I have made bonds with each one of you that will forever exist as a beautiful memory. You have made these past few years so memorable. I'll always be here for you whenever you need me, just like you've always been there for me. "A true friend is the one who comes in when the whole world has gone out." Good luck and remember to follow your dreams!

- S W A T I

Can I ask for a more awesome group of friends? I think not. These memorable years with you all have produced hilarious inside jokes quite possibly numbering in the hundreds, maniacal laughing fits, unspeakably immature situations, and friendships that have taught me the true meaning of fun, lunacy, and individuality. We are all destined for great things...let's take over the world together! You guys mean so much to me; without you all, I'd be lost forever in the monotony of everyday life. Keep in touch, you llamas, or I will hunt you all down!

- W I L L A

Our sanity was constantly in question during the past six years. But here we are now, graduating, and not one of us has been locked up in an asylum! I'll never forget the potlucks - the Rafiki chips and Musalsa, muffins, Mrs. Bigglesworth's din din, Toastmaster, Skittles, and scotch on the rocks....hold the scotch. We created a whole new spin on interpretive dance and the meaning of the angry Chinese lady. The hills are green today, and forever, and khaki shorts will never be looked at the same again. And then there were the countless internet projects - most importantly The Perspective, Chou Kousei and the Royal Court (Long live the Royal Court!). I could go on and on about our inside jokes - Alias Party, the Tiki tribe, the Jedi Congregation, the Llama Hallways. But I'll end it here, at the beginning of an entirely new chapter. cue music

- M A L L O R Y

It takes skills for a group to stay together for so long - and still will, for many years to come. We've had too many good times and inside jokes to let it all end here! We'll just have to party in the llama bus and "get some work done" at Swati's house until we're all sick of each other! (like that could ever happen) Cheers!

- E L I Z A B E T H

For the past couple years, the five of us have been together. Some for longer than others, from Ardenwood, Walters to now Kennedy. Although I was gone for a year, you guys still made me feel totally welcome. As I sit here trying to decide college things, I imagine what all of us will be like in the following years. Will we be able to visit each other as often, and plan those unexpected days (yet fun) at our houses? No matter what, we still have to plan that long forgotten road trip to anywhere. Besides, we're too cool for the "others" since we've had: the RC, Bloody Monday, "Bob", and just about everything else.

the making of the 2004 yearbook

DESIGN:

The Legend, Volume XXXVIII, was produced by the yearbook class at John F. Kennedy High School in Fremont, CA and printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Logan, UT. Representatives Jane Roehrig, Heidi Bryant, and Lisa Hepps and customer service adviser Terri Schnell serviced the account. We as a class developed the theme-MOVING FORWARD in April at "The Rock Show" themed yearbook camp and after deciding through literally hundreds of other possibilities. The cover was designed by Isaac Routt and incorporated a 4-color design, which was debossed and silk screened on to the Desert #1854 background. There were no applied colors/foil or applied grain. The end sheets were printed on 100-pound VC 01 White paper. The book's 200 pages are printed on 80-pound Bordeaux paper. The 2004 volume includes 40 pages in full color and no spot color pages.

COPY:

All body copy was set in size 12 Antique Olive, and captions were size 9 AHJ Antique Olive L. Headline fonts were set in AHJ Antique Olive Compact.

PHOTOS:

Frames of color and frames of black and white film were shot by staff members using a Canon Power Shot A80, Canon 35 mm, and a Nikon Power Shot. Lifetouch also assisted in taking pictures. Herff Jones in Logan, Utah did processing and printing and Prestige Portraits provided the portraits.

COMPUTERS:

The Legend was produced using Adobe Page Maker 7.0 on 36 Pentium 3 and 4 PC computers and HP Scanjet 5500c. Pages were submitted to the plant on disk.

SPECIAL THANKS:

Thank you to all the companies and representatives who took their time to make the yearbook an immense project: Jane Roehrig, Heidi Bryant, and Lisa Hepps with Herff Jones, Damon Crow with Prestige Portraits By Lifetouch, Terri Schnell, and Isaac Routt. We would also like to thank the students, staff, and administration for their assistance and cooperation in the publication of the 39th volume of the yearbook. Without their patience and enormous help with the yearbook, we would have not been able to successfully complete "Moving Forward."

MISCELLANEOUS:

We as a class developed the theme-MOVING FORWARD in April at "The Rock Show" themed yearbook camp and after deciding through literally hundreds of other possibilities.
